German Warships Sink British Submarine in North Sea

STATE ENGINEER RECOMMENDS CAR LINE EXTENSIONS

Report to Public Service Commission Advises Changes in Fourth, Jefferson, Grand and Park and Compton Routes and Construction of Three New Loops in Downtown District Within 90 Days.

The construction of many new loops for street cars in downtown districts to relieve congested traffic conditions during rush hours, the extension of several street car lines and the placing of few additional cars in service are recommended in a report today Chief Engineer J. L. Harrop of the Missouri Public Service Commission at Jefferson City. The report on the whole was considered favorable to the United Railways Co.

The report recommended that three new downtown loops and new loop on South Jefferson avenue be constructed within 90 days and suggests that the United Railways be permitted four cars in which to carry out the other recommendations for loops and extensions. The total cost of the loops and extensions recommended is estimated by Harrop at $773,134.

Harrop, after his recent personal investigation in St. Louis, and that the United Railways is supplying adequate service during rush hours.

The Public Service Commission will consider the report, with other evidence, a hearing at the Planters Hotel, Oct. 21. The report is merely evidence, and a commission will hear engineers of the United Railways in regard to its recommendations. If the commission adopts Harrop's report, it has the power to compel the United Railways to carry out its provisions.

Extensions Recommended.

The extensions of car lines recommended by Harrop are as follows:

FOURTH STREET LINE should be removed from Grand avenue south of Lafayette avenue, and should be run west on Lafayette to connect with the Vandeventer line at Tower Grove avenue.

JEFFERSON AVENUE LINE should be taken from the Fairground vicinity and from Jefferson avenue and Hebert street it should be run north to Broadway and Salisbury street, running east on Salisbury, north on Broadway and west on Bremen.

PARK AND COMPTON CARS should be run to Shaw's Garden, this to be accomplished by building a single track on Shenandoah and Botanical avenue from Thurman to Broadway and south on King's highway from Manchester avenue to Vandeventer line.

TAYLOR AVENUE LINE should be extended north on Taylor avenue from Florissant avenue to Broadway and south on King's highway from Manchester avenue to Vandeventer line.

HAMILTON LINE should be changed to run cars west on Delmar from Hamilton, south on Skinker road to Oakland avenue, which, the engineer states, would provide direct connection between Maplewood and the western part of the city, and between Maplewood and University City.

GRAND AVENUE LINE should be extended south from Meramec street and King's highway to Carondelet Park.

SPALDING LINE should be extended west on Spalding avenue from King's highway to Union boulevard.

The New Loops Recommended.

The few loops Harrop recommended to be completed within 90 days are: Hodiamont cars, instead of running south on Sixth street, should be run east on Locust to Fourth, north on Fourth to St. Charles, west on St. Charles to Broadway, south on Broadway to Locust, and west on Locust. This change, Harrop says, would relieve much of the Sixth street congestion.

Page, Park and Compton cars, in part, should be looped on Tenth and Eleventh streets, running east on Washington to Tenth, north on Tenth to Locust, west to Eleventh, south to Washington and west on Washington.

Another new loop for Page, Park and Compton cars is recommended for Seventh and Eighth streets, the cars running east on Washington to Seventh, north to Lucas, west to Eighth, south to Washington and west on Washington.

To avoid switch of Jefferson and Chippewa streets, a new loop cars would run south on Winnebago, south

Chief Findings on Street Car Service

The principal recommendations and findings of the Public Service Commission's chief engineers, in an investigation of the United Railways, are:

Traffic is congested in the downtown district.

Four additional loops should be constructed within 90 days.

Other loops and extension of several lines should be constructed within four years.

Seventy-six seats for each 100 passengers is enough.

Smoking on cars should be stopped.

Rear door should not be used for exit.

Cars are sanitary.

Even temperature of 50 degrees should be maintained in winter.

Forced air heating system is good.

Average speed of 9 to 10 miles an hour is maintained.

COMPANY earns more per car in service than companies in many other large cities.

Seat for each passenger is not physically or financially possible.

One standing passenger for each four square feet of space is not overcrowding.

City should prohibit by ordinance use of street railway tracks by vehicles.

Federations should be prohibited from crossing street intersections diagonally.

Service during rush hours is sufficient.

Cars in service: Morning, 1110; noon, 516; evening, 1261.

on Broadway, west on Chippewa and north on Jefferson.

The other loops recommended are: Natural Bridge cars, instead of looping around Sixth, Elm, Fourth and Broadway, should be run east on Carr street to Broadway, south to Locust street, west to Sixth and north on Sixth to Wash street.

Two loops in the vicinity of Union Station should be provided. One should be for Park, Compton and Eighteenth street cars, which would run south on Eighteenth, east on Clark, north on Seventeenth, west on Walnut, north on Eighteenth, east on Market.

A loop for Olive street cars at Grand avenue is recommended to turn back some west-bound Olive street cars. The cars would run west on Olive to Channing, west on Lindell to Grand, north on Grand to Olive and east on Olive.

The construction of double track on Clark avenue, between Seventh and Ninth streets, is recommended.

The construction of single track on Tenth street, from Washington avenue to Market street, and on Eleventh street from Washington avenue to Market street, with curve connections to all intersecting lines, is recommended.

Harrop reports that the condition of the United Railways reserve for depreciation is such that all of the loops and extensions recommended

MOTHER OF SLAIN WOMAN ON STAND IN CARMAN TRIAL

Mrs. Duryee Is First of a Dozen Persons Called by State in Murder Trial.

MAID TO TELL STORY

Witnesses Tell of Seeing Physician's Wife Pass Through Office Night of Killing.

MINNEOLA, L. I., Oct. 20.—So swiftly did the trial of Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, charged with the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, in the office of the defendant's husband, Dr. Edwin Carman, in Freeport, move that within two and one-half hours after the convening of court this morning District Attorney Smith had made his opening address to the jury and a dozen witnesses had been examined.

The jury was selected yesterday, the same day the trial opened.

Mrs. Jennie Duryee, mother of Mrs. Bailey, was called as the first witness. Mrs. Duryee, a motherly looking woman of 70 years, burst into tears as soon as she took the stand. She said, between sobs, that the last time she saw her daughter alive was at 3:30 o'clock on the afternoon of June 20.

"What is this?" asked Smith, handing the witness a dark cloth object.

"That's my daughter's dress," said Mrs. Duryee.

Mrs. Bailey's Daughter Cries. Madeline Bailey, the dead woman's daughter, was so overwhelmed at the sight of her mother's dress, that she cried aloud. The dress was blue and according to the witness, there was a dark stain on the back of it.

Mrs. Duryee said that her daughter was 23 years old and described her. The witness was then excused and Harry De Beau, a real estate dealer of Hempstead, was called.

De Beau said that at 7:30 o'clock on the night of June 20, he saw Mrs. Bailey at the corner near the Carman house. He had known her for several years, he said, and knew the exact time, as he was on his way to catch a train for New York. He saw Mrs. Bailey cross the street and go towards the doctor's office.

Katherine Haggerty of Rockville Center, the next witness, fixed Mrs. Bailey's whereabouts at 6 o'clock on the night of the murder at the home of a mutual friend, Mrs. Crahaw, in Rockville Center.

Stenographer on the Stand.

Miss Lazel Cowles, a stenographer of Freeport, testified that she went to Dr. Carman's office to consult him on the night of June 20, and that while she was waiting in the reception room a woman wearing a dark dress entered. It was inferred that the woman was Mrs. Bailey.

Mrs. Carman passed through the reception room twice, the witness said, once after the woman in the dark dress had arrived. When Miss Cowles left the office the dark-gowned woman was still there.

Coriden Norton, Coroner and Justice of the Peace in Freeport, was called to the stand.

Coroner Norton said he was called to the Carman house about 8:45 o'clock. Mrs. Bailey was then dead.

Later that night, the Coroner said, he examined the office, the window through which the shot had been fired and the ground outside. He said the window screen was propped up with a piece of shingle. The fastenings on the screen were undamaged. Some of the glass from the pane was on the floor of the office, some was on the ground outside and some was held between a lace curtain and the inside window sill, he said.

William D. Bailey, husband of the victim, testified that he had been notified about 9 o'clock of his wife's death. When he arrived at the Carman house, 10 minutes later, he found her body on the sofa.

Dr. Howard E. Phipps of Hempstead, who performed the autopsy, testified that Mrs. Bailey would have become a mother had she lived.

Celia Coleman, the negro maid in the Carman household, and two other witnesses on whom the State leans heavily, were to take the stand. It was believed, this afternoon.

Woman Seen in Hall. George Golder of Freeport testified that while waiting in Dr. Carman's reception room on the night of the murder, he heard a crash of glass, closely followed by a revolver shot. Golder said he ran out on the lawn, but saw no one.

Just before the shooting, Golder said, he heard someone in the house playing a piano. A woman's voice called from upstairs, "Stop playing." A moment later he saw Elizabeth Carman, the defendant's daughter, pass down the hallway.

A woman in white, Golder said, passed down the hall from the front of the house to the rear and back again, a few minutes later.

Smile Rather Stereotyped. Far be it from me to say that a woman is almost negative in her personality

Aeroplane Bomb Droppers at Work

This picture has been prepared in order to show the method in which bombs are being dropped from aeroplanes. The bomb dropping officer is shown as just about to drop a pear shaped bomb upon the town of Huy, in Belgium. The aviator must take the machine up to a certain height to secure the proper detonation of the bomb. If dropped when too close to the ground the charge will fail to explode. A little windmill apparatus (seen between the projecting bars at the top of the bomb) must revolve a given number of times before the bomb becomes operative. The rush of air causes a little spindle inside the outer case to descend before the bomb strikes the ground.

MRS. CARMAN IS PRETTY BUT NOT THE HEROINE TYPE, SAYS GERTRUDE ATHERTON

She Has a Sweet, Stereotyped Hostess' Smile, Is Serene in Court, Appears to Be Unemotional and to Lack Sense of Humor.

BY GERTRUDE ATHERTON.

Noted Author, Is Reporting the Mrs. Carman Murder Trial for the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Mrs. Atherton is the author of "The Conquerors," "Rulers of Kings," "A Daughter of the Vine," and other successful novels.

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The most extraordinary thing about Mrs. Carman is her total unlikeliness to all published pictures of her and all descriptions that I, at least, have read. I came to court expecting to take as few cursory glances as possible at a large, spare, masculine, haughty, dominant looking woman designed by nature to have her own way, if not by "management," then by force.

As that is the type I particularly detest, I came to the court with far more interest in the case than in herself. But Mrs. Carman belongs to the essentially feminine type of her sex; also to the type always described as pretty, never as handsome. She has a sweet expression, a frequent somewhat studied smile, as if from long desire to please.

With the balance on the side of attractiveness—is incapable of committing murder. I have not the vaguest idea whether she shot Mrs. Bailey or not, or even fired off a pistol with intent to terrify, but the fact she neither looks large-eyed or innocent nor stern and passionate is somewhat in her favor, not altogether of course. A neutral-tinted face with a tip-tilted nose and a sweet expression be removed to Mexico City.

VILLA'S ARMY IN POSITION TO TAKE AGUASCALIENTES

Report Says Conference Delegates Are in Panic, Fearing They Will Be Imprisoned.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 20.—The Mexican consulate here today received a report from Mexico City stating that Gen. Francisco Villa created a panic among the delegates to the convention of military chiefs in Aguascalientes, today by moving an army of 15,000 men into position where he can envelope the city and imprison the entire conference.

Villa's army is reported to be within an hour's march of Aguascalientes. To oppose him there are Carranza troops at Monterey and Saltillo, but it would take several days to get them to Aguascalientes.

According to the message from Mexico City to the consulate here, the delegates at Aguascalientes, who include many chiefs of the Constitutional army, have made an appeal to Carranza to guarantee their freedom during the convention, which was resumed today. They asserted that Villa's soldiers, who are in Aguascalientes as escorts to the chiefs of Villa's army, rob them and insult them in the streets. They ask that Aguascalientes and surrounding territory be declared neutral during the convention or that the convention be removed to Mexico City.

BRITISH FLEET HELPS BELGIANS IN HOLDING THE NIEUPOORT LINE

Battlefield a Sea of Mud, but Germans Continue to Send Up Reinforcements—French Victors in Bayonet Duels From Floor to Floor of Houses.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

BERLIN, Oct. 20, by wireless to Sayville, L. I.—It was officially stated here today that the British new submarine E3 was sunk on Sunday, Oct. 18, by German warships in the North Sea.

The destruction of the British submarine E3 by German warships in the North Sea, as announced from Berlin, is the first loss suffered by the British submarine service since the outbreak of the war. The E3 was completed in 1912. She was 176 feet long and 23½ feet beam. She was capable of making 16 knots above the water and 10 knots below and was equipped with four 21-inch torpedo tubes. Her complement consisted of 16 men.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Increasing satisfaction was shown by the people of Paris today on reading the latest reports from the front. These indicate that the allies are continuing their offensive operation, which, in the opinion of observers, promise the best results. The action of the Belgian army and of a squadron of British warships in repulsing an attack by the enemy is a subject of particularly favorable comment.

The public was equally gratified by the announcement of the situation in Alsace. This was the first time in some days that the War Office has indicated definitely the French positions. It is now seen that French troops have almost reached the outlet of the valleys leading to the plains of the River Ill, which flows north through Alsace and empties into the Rhine.

Germans Preparing New Defensive Works Around Strassburg.

The French now consider that they are firmly established in Alsace on territory doubly dear to them. Word has been received also that the Germans are hastily preparing new defensive works around Strassburg and digging innumerable trenches in front of this city. Vineyards have been leveled by the German engineers in carrying out this work.

The fighting in the vicinity of Lille has been watched with deep interest here, and it is hoped that not many days will pass before the allies take this position.

The official communication given out this afternoon says: In Belgium, in spite of violent attacks on the part of the enemy, the Belgian army has held its position on the line on the River Yser.

"There have been other actions in the regions of Ypres between the allied forces operating in this territory and the forces of the enemy."

"On our left wing the Germans continue to hold strongly their advance posts around Lille in the direction of Armentieres, Fournes and La Bassée."

"On the Meuse, the enemy has endeavored in vain to drive back the advance posts of our troops, who have moved out along the right bank of this stream in the peninsula of the Camp des Romains."

"To sum up, during the day of Oct. 19, we have made progress at various points on the front."

British Fleet Helps Belgians Repulse Attacks.

The official communication issued by the War Office last night said: "In Belgium attacks by the Germans between Nieupoort and Dixmude have been repulsed by the Belgian army, effectively aided by the British fleet."

"Between Arras and Roye slight progress has been made at several points. Our troops have reached as far as the wire work of the defense."

"In the neighborhood of St. Mihiel we have gained some ground on the right bank of the Meuse."

"No news of importance has been received regarding the remainder of the front."

Battlefield a Sea of Mud, but Germans Continue to Send Up Reinforcements

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The plunging German attacks on the allied lines near the Belgian coast between Nieupoort and Dixmude, similar tactics by the allies in France between Arras and Roye, where progress is claimed, a continued allied assault on Lille, still held by the Germans, and stubborn fighting in the vicinity of St. Mihiel, where for days the allies have been trying to drive the Germans from their southernmost lodgement, were the acute points today in the sprawling battle area of France and Belgium.

The communications issued in behalf of the allies last night enabled Britons to visualize for the first time in 10 days the approximate battle line after crossing the Belgian frontier and showed how the allies during the days of censorship were throwing their forces westward to meet the inevitable German advance which followed the taking of Ostend.

The fighting is now centering only a few miles southwest of that city and the Belgian army, heretofore reported as having repulsed the Germans on the banks of the River Yser, is again in the thick of the fight, being credited with bending back the German line as far as Roulers, Belgium, 13 miles northwest of Courtrai, which point they are holding, according to the latest reports.

Report That Ostend Has Been Retaken Is Not Confirmed.

A dispatch dated merely "North of France," says the allies have retaken Ostend, but this is not confirmed and is at variance with the German contention that they have reached the neighborhood of Dunkirk.

RUSSIANS PUSH BACK GERMANS IN VIOLENT FIGHTING WEST OF WARSAW

whose inhabitants as well as those of Boulogne are in a state of panic. If the Belgians are holding Roulers, it seems incredible that the Germans have advanced so far, as that would mean a complete bending back of the allies left, which rests on the coast west of Ostend.

Torrential rains have been falling recently near the scene of the coast fighting, making the flat country a sea of mud, and this, with the network of canals, makes the movement of German guns extremely difficult. The Germans, however, are still bringing up reinforcements, a message from Amsterdam saying that troops of all arms are steadily moving westward between Wetteren and Termonde, toward the French frontier. It was added that the men were of all ages and were accompanied by heavy guns, supposedly for Ostend.

The London press is unanimously hailing the German attempt to sweep through Belgium to the North France coast towns as a failure. It may be true that the progress from Ostend has been slower than the usual impetuous German rush, but it seems premature to say that they have failed until something more decisive occurs between Roulers and the coast or one side or the other strikes a sharp blow to the south.

Emperor's Channel Army Regarded as Doomed.
The correspondent of the Daily Mail, in the north of France, says a big battle is in progress along the front extending from Ostend to Lille. "In competent quarters," he says, "the position of the allies is regarded as eminently satisfactory."

"The enemy's attempt to brush past our left wing to the Straits of Dover is rapidly coming to ignominious failure. Their line of attack was intended to extend from Ostend throughout Lille to Douai, but the steady succession of defeats of the past fortnight has broken the power of the southern half of the line, and instead of a united army marching in an unbroken line across Pas de Calais, and the north departments there is left merely a series of detachments. They are still large, but wherever they have given battle, they have been soundly beaten."

"The Emperor's channel expeditionary force, as it is called here, has received to the last man and rifle what help it could hope for from the withdrawal of troops in Alsace. The German garrisons in Brussels, Antwerp and Bruges cannot spare another regiment. As it exists now, it must go forward and it goes to certain destruction."

"It faced the prospect of an advance in the worst of conditions, rains having turned the country into a quagmire. It is absolutely flat, intersected with canals, and offers no natural cover while the force defending it can make death traps of wire entanglements. However the issue turns, the Emperor's channel army is doomed."

In a dispatch from Rotterdam, the correspondent of the Evening News says German marines are leaving Antwerp to rejoin the German fleet and the German ships at Kiel are being extensively provisioned.

It is reported in Harwich that the Holland-American Line steamer Potsdam struck a mine in the North Sea last night and was crippled.

Germans Repulse Attacks Near Lille

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 20 (Via London).—The following official communication from Berlin, dated Oct. 20, has been received in Amsterdam: "The Germans, advancing along the coast from Ostend, met hostile forces at the Yser river near Nieuport, where fighting has been going on since last Sunday."

"Yesterday the attacks of the enemy, west of Lille, were repulsed, the enemy suffering heavy losses."

"In the eastern theater of the war there has been no material change."

Germans Overcome in Bayonet Duels From Floor to Floor Near La Bassée

By an Associated Press Correspondent.

ON THE BATTLE FRONT, via Paris, Monday.—King Albert's Belgian army, whose stamina seems unaffected by the privations it has undergone, again fought with the greatest gallantry today alongside the British and French allies near the Belgian coast. A new element was introduced into the conflict when the British fleet made its presence known by a D.H.K. cannonade of massed German columns which were trying to break down the allies' resistance.

The fighting was severe along the River Yser where the Germans sought to gain control of the forts without success. Further south at La Bassée, the struggle, which has been in progress several days, developed into a house-to-house combat. Both sides displayed the greatest determination and in many cases bayonet duels progressed from one floor to another until the Germans were eventually overcome. All along La Bassée Canal the two opposing forces were stiffly engaged throughout the day.

Good railroad connections meet here, leading to various important centers and the series of coal mines about Lille which the Germans in many instances damaged or destroyed. In the vicinity of Vervins, near La Bassée, a French trench battery destroyed 15 German machine guns with a rain of shell.

The allies made a slight advance in the neighborhood of Arras and Rave, where for 10 days a hard battle has gone on and is still unfinished. Very little has been seen of the German infantry in this locality, but their artillery is extremely active in trenches behind complicated barbed wire entanglements.

On the Eastern wing, along the Meuse, heavy fighting is incessant and in this the French artillery is playing a most important part. The concentrated fire of several of the French batteries at St. Mihiel Monday destroyed a complete battery of heavy German artillery which had been causing great annoyance.

It was due to the clever work of a French artillery man that this was accomplished. Carrying a portable field telephone, he hid himself for two days near the German position and informed his comrades in his rear of the positions of the German guns and the direction in which they should fire. This information rendered the German position untenable and when his work was done the brave gunner returned safely to the French lines.

Naval Battle in Black Sea Reported

LONDON, Oct. 20.—A dispatch from Copenhagen to the Central News says:

"The Berliner Tageblatt publishes a telegram from Bucharest, saying that evidently a big Russian-Turkish naval battle has taken place in the Black Sea. Exceedingly heavy firing, lasting a considerable time, is reported."

A Rome dispatch to the Daily News says the situation in Constantinople is alarming. The Russian Ambassador has transferred the archives of the embassy to Odessa.

Germans Say They're Near Dunkirk

LONDON, Oct. 20.—German forces have reached the neighborhood of Dunkirk, according to a Berlin official dispatch to the Marconi Wireless Co. Heavy fighting is taking place at Dixmude and Boulouers. The inhabitants of Dunkirk and Boulogne are in flight.

ITALY MOBILIZES FLEET; ABRUZZI IS IN COMMAND

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Italian fleet has been fully mobilized under the Duke of Abruzzi, the Commander in Chief. The first division are three dreadnaughts, in the second four battleships, in the third four first-class cruisers, in the fourth three second-class cruisers, in the fifth four training ships, in the sixth four of the older warships, in the seventh the torpedo boat submarines and a scout destroyer flotilla are assigned to every division. Each division is commanded by a Rear Admiral. The battleship Regina Margherita is the Duke of Abruzzi's flagship. The Rumanian Government seized yesterday a freight train of 150 cars, loaded with artillery, ammunition and other war material, which had been sent by Germans to Giurgievo and destined for Turkey. Similar trains had passed freely across Rumania before King Charles died, therefore Germany is protesting against what it considers arbitrary seizures. The attitude which Rumania has taken toward the war has been approved at a Cabinet meeting attended by representatives of the various parties, according to a dispatch received from Berlin by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. The dispatch quotes the Vienna Reichspost as saying that at the meeting of the Cabinet, which was held in Bucharest under the presidency of King Ferdinand, it was decided that there were no reasons at present which would justify any alteration of Rumania's position.

Witness of Furious Attacks by Czar's Men on Fortress of Przemyśl Tells How They Were Beaten Off After Scaling Walls.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—A dispatch to the Times from Petrograd, dated Monday, says:

"Fierce fighting has been in progress since yesterday, west of Warsaw. The Russian columns have resolutely hurled back the Germans toward their main positions on the line of Skierniewice, Kielce and Sandomir."

"No details have reached the War Office concerning this fighting, but the correspondents at the front give descriptions of the fierce artillery duels and tell of the capture of large numbers of prisoners, including many Saxons. They add that the Germans are exhausted and starving."

RUSSIANS SCALED PRZEMYSL WALLS

BERLIN, via The Hague, Oct. 20.—A correspondent of the Zeitung am Mittag, who entered Przemyśl after a four days' motor ride over unpassable roads, learned the story of the siege of that place. The first shots were fired on Sept. 18, the city was surrounded on Sept. 20 and an unbroken bombardment, with many desperate sorties, ensued until Oct. 3, when the Russians sent a white flag and demanded the city's surrender. This was refused.

The attack reached its height on Oct. 6. The Russians seemed utterly contemptuous of death and stormed again and again. They seem to have learned much from the Japanese war for they attacked with great skill. The men seemed especially trained for fortress work. Hills of corpses outside of the works testify to the furious attacks they made. The Austrians estimate that 4,000 and suddenly mounted the walls. When reinforcements, which had been hastily telephoned for, arrived, the attacking party was already retreating, leaving 200 dead and wounded in the casemates and 150 corpses on the wall. The Russians were still in contact with the fortress on one side and commenced firing in progress when the correspondent left. Rockets, light shells and searchlights illuminated the land before the fortress and the night was made as bright as day. It was a majestic sight, says the correspondent, as the troops marched through this lighted zone.

Gap From Arras to Sea.

In this time it became clear what the German strategy was aiming at. From Switzerland to Arras, along the Meuse, the Somme, the Aisne, the Meuse, the Somme, the parallel lines of intrenchments faced each other, and neither side was able to make material progress.

But from Arras to the sea, for nearly 100 miles across open plains, there was still an unfortified gap. Through this a new German push to Paris might come, isolating Boulogne, Calais, Dunkirk, and thus gaining the heights above the narrow straits of Dover.

This drive began before Antwerp fell. When the capture of that city released thousands of German troops they were moved rapidly west and some toward the sea. The German right at last rested on the sea, and German masses were coming up—were still coming up—from Antwerp, some for Germany; more are promised from the East.

Allies Have Checked Germans' Channel Move on Paris, Expert Says

By the Military Expert of the New York Evening Sun.

Published in St. Louis exclusively in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, by special arrangement with the Sun.

IN the first 11 weeks of the great war, two separate phases have commanded the attention of the world, and it is plain that a third is just approaching a crisis. From Liège to the Marne, the German offensive held the interest of all observers, neutral and partial. From the Marne to the close of the siege of Antwerp, the desperate effort of the allies to prevent the German offensive, to turn the Germans out of France, first by frontal, then by flank attack, was equally absorbing.

Both offensive efforts measurably failed. The Germans could not take Paris and destroy the French armies. The allies could not turn the Germans out of France. From a period marked by great and rapidly changing operations, a period in which Waterloo and Sedan seemed possible and were expected, the war as a spectacle degenerated into siege operations and deadlocks, from the character of a battle of men into that of a chess game between strategists.

Germany's Second Chance. The period terminated with the German capture of Antwerp. With their hands freed of Belgian perils, the German offensive operations, since the capture of the fortress, have been directed toward the sea and the Scheldt. The German drive at the right flank and the opportunity to take the offensive, to deal with the French with their inconsiderable British support—a second chance—to dispose of France finally, as Bernhardi has said.

Thus, about Oct. 10, while Antwerp was just beginning to crumble, Paris, London and Berlin alike reported the advance of huge masses of German cavalry along the northwestern frontier of France. Around Arras the French drive at the right flank and communications of Von Kluck had been checked. From Noyon to Douai, that is along the whole exposed line of railways, the German line had held. Accordingly, renouncing the turning movement, the allies were reaching north toward Antwerp to join hands with King Albert's gallant army.

To prevent this, the wedge of German troops drove, beyond the Scheldt, toward the extreme left of the allied line beyond Lens and Arras. By Oct. 9, when Antwerp fell, the allied line had been bent back away from Belgium, was facing north and giving ground slowly.

Gap From Arras to Sea.

In this time it became clear what the German strategy was aiming at. From Switzerland to Arras, along the Meuse, the Somme, the Aisne, the Meuse, the Somme, the parallel lines of intrenchments faced each other, and neither side was able to make material progress.

But from Arras to the sea, for nearly 100 miles across open plains, there was still an unfortified gap. Through this a new German push to Paris might come, isolating Boulogne, Calais, Dunkirk, and thus gaining the heights above the narrow straits of Dover.

few minutes before the shooting. The defendant, recalled to the stand, identified Gold as one of the men she had seen in Dr. Carman's office, and added that Mrs. Carman, wearing a dark shirt waist, had admitted Gold to the waiting room.

Prosecutor's Opening Statement. In opening for the prosecution, Lewis J. Smith, the District Attorney, sketched in some detail Mrs. Bailey's actions on the day of the murder, the arrangement of the Carman home in general and the physician's office particularly.

He told the jury how the wire screen at the window to the office was propped up, the window pane broken, a revolver thrust through the opening and a bullet fired into the heart of Mrs. Bailey. Although she died within a minute, he said, her body was not moved until a time before the police were notified.

"We shall show," continued the District Attorney, "that the shot that killed Mrs. Bailey was fired by this defendant. We shall show that she passed through the kitchen, out through the side yard, a moment before the shooting, and that she returned through the kitchen after it. We shall show further that the motive was jealousy and suspicion of her husband."

To prove this, we shall call a woman whom Mrs. Carman slapped on one occasion when she saw her husband give her money while the pair were in the physician's office. Also we will show why and how she secured a telephone instrument of mechanical character plan of the earliest Prussian master of war.

Allies Were Prepared. This new purpose was promptly grasped by the allied high command, and before Antwerp had fallen, an enormous concentration of allied troops west of Arras was reported. French marines, the Indian contingent of the British, new formations from the south were rushed up to fill the gap. Thus, when Antwerp actually fell, the allies had a battle line from Arras to the channel ready for the inevitable stroke.

The German advance, it would seem, had already made progress into France, had reached Stomer on the Calais Railroad; was, in fact, almost successful in isolating the channel forts. But since Oct. 8 it is clear that this German advance has been checked. Steadily, but with desperate fighting, the allies have moved north, their left on the sea, their right joining the main battle line about Arras.

Today the dispatches describe the battle line, the allied extreme left has pushed north of French territory, rests on the channel, covered by British warships at Nieuport, just southwest of Ostend, stretches south and east along the canals to Ypres, then south through Arras and almost in sight of Lille to Antwerp.

Allies Still in Danger. In sum, the allies have plugged the last hole in their line. But it remains possible, wholly possible, that new German masses may force this flank. Driving south in overwhelming numbers, they may break the line, sweep south again over the plains of Arras, and presently approach Amiens and the Somme. This is the plain purpose of all their present effort.

If they are successful, the Germans would thus, at the very least, straighten their battle line from the Meuse to the channel, making good their hold on all the great industrial region, the coal fields of Northern France. Moreover, their howitzers could reduce Dunkirk, Calais and Boulogne would be bases for their torpedo boats and submarines, brought thither in sections on trains. Conceivably they might so crush the allied left as to force it south of Amiens, and arrive on the flank of the whole Aisne battle line. But this is merely an extreme supposition, the maximum of possibility.

But if they fail, if they are unable to advance, then, from the channel to Switzerland, the German advance is halted, they are thrown upon the defensive. Time being always against them, since the resources of their opponents are greater and the supremacy of the sea still belongs to the allies, such a check would be disastrous, might prove ultimately disastrous.

Allies' Possible Move.

On the other hand, if the allies are able to push their present advance, drive the Germans south and east, they may presently be able to resume their thrust at German communications. As the maximum of German success in the premises is a new drive at Paris, the maximum of allied prosperity is a successful turning movement, sending the Germans back from the Meuse to the sea.

A new crisis is then approaching. In the next few days, and on this 100-mile front between Arras and Dunkirk, there is to be decided the question whether the German offensive can again push forward, whether the Kaiser's army has still the power to strike again toward Paris, whether his masses are still strong enough, despite losses and exertions, to deal another terrific blow. If they are not, it is plain that presently more numbers will put them permanently on that defensive, in German military literature so despised, so abhorred.

dropper so that she could spy upon her husband."

The District Attorney also told how the defendant tore out the instrument the morning after the murder and hid it in the garage.

"We will show some things about George M. Levy, this defendant's counsel," Smith continued. "We will show how she called him on the day after the murder and consulted him and how he immediately questioned the colored girl, Celia Coleman, about what she had seen. We will show that before this defendant had even been suspected, she began to prepare for her defense and that she instructed the colored girl what to say in case the officers of the law should question her. After we show all this, gentlemen, we shall expect you to bring in a verdict of murder in the first degree."

Celia Coleman, the negro maid in the Carman household, is expected to take the stand today to tell her story of the crime.

Questions put to the talesmen yesterday by the District Attorney, Louis J. Smith, indicated that about the testimony of the maid he will build his case against Mrs. Carman.

The record time in which the jury was selected yesterday led District Attorney Smith to express the opinion that the trial would be a fast one and that a verdict might be expected this week.

RIVER WAS AFIRE AS GERMAN ARMY ENTERED ANTWERP

Retiring Garrison Blew Up Oil Tanks and Covered Scheldt With Blazing Oil.

ANTWERP, via London, Oct. 20.—The effect of the big guns on Antwerp's outer fortifications was more striking than at Liège. Two armored turrets at Fort Wavre-St. Catherine put out of action with a single shot, their steel beds broken in two and the heavy masses of metal hurled five or six yards away. In another fort the concrete embankment was pierced like an egg shell, and the steel turret uprooted. Still another turret was completely upended, and lies with its base pointing skyward and its gun buried underneath.

Behind Fort Wavre, where a 15-inch shell penetrated the magazine, a heavy steam engine, which furnished power for the light plant, was blown 20 yards from its base. The entire top of the fort here was torn off, and 60 men of the garrison are said to have been buried beneath the debris.

German staff officers say that when the River Nethe was crossed, the Belgian defense virtually collapsed. The Belgians abandoned their heavy artillery and machine guns, while the Germans entrenched themselves, expecting a counter attack.

The officers declare that after 30 German shells, not of the largest size, but from the smaller mortars, had been dropped in various quarters of the city of Antwerp, the white flag appeared on forts six and seven of the inner girdle of fortifications. The burgomaster of the city then came out and offered to surrender Antwerp, but was told that the terms of capitulation could be arranged only with the Belgian military authorities.

The German troops then pushed in through the girdle of inner forts and past the undefended city wall, finding that the retiring garrison had blown up the bridge across the River Scheldt and also had interposed a belt of flame against the invaders by firing the oil tanks and covering the surface of the river with burning oil.

Antwerp is a dead city. The populace has fled and the streets are deserted. Notwithstanding the leniency of the German fire, some scenes of devastation are to be witnessed in the warehouse district along the river bank. In addition to wrecked buildings, piles of packing cases lie broken open, and their contents strewn about the streets. Millions of dollars' worth of merchandise has been ruined in this district.

MAN'S WISH REGARDING BURIAL TO BE FOLLOWED

Picture of Mother and Wife Will Be Deposited With Ashes After Cremation.

G. C. McMillan, executor of the estate of Fred P. Haines, who in his will cut off his wife and son with $1 each, said today that Mrs. Haines was divorced and that the son lives with her in New York. Haines killed himself Saturday by cutting his throat and wrists with a knife.

Haines left a $2000 accident policy to the Y. M. C. A., but McMillan said he doubted the validity of it, inasmuch as Haines told the police he attempted to kill himself.

Edward P. Haines receives two life insurance policies and all of his brother's personal property.

To his niece, Gladys I. Phetteplace, Haines bequeathed the income from a life insurance policy until she became 20 years old. She will then receive the principal.

Haines directed the executor to give his sister, Mrs. Fred Phetteplace, money on deposit in the Mercantile Trust Co. and the Broadway Savings Trust Co. after all of his debts are paid. McMillan said he thought Haines' life insurance policies will total between $10,000 and $12,000.

McMillan said Haines' last wish that his body be cremated and his ashes deposited with pictures of his mother and wife, will be carried out.

POLICE BELIEVE WOMEN MAY HAVE DROWNED

Clothing Found on Cabaret Island Puzzles Authorities at Venice, (Ill.)

Police at Venice, Ill., believe the clothing found by three fishermen yesterday afternoon on the south bank of Cabaret Island, near the Illinois shore three miles north of the McKinley Bridge, was the property of women swimmers who either were drowned or were frightened away by men.

The garments consisted of underclothes, a blue serge coat, well worn, and a cream colored cape of good material. The police say the coat was size 36, made for a woman weighing about 150 pounds.

The fishermen also found silver knives and forks, an alarm clock, a pair of gold rimmed opera glasses, a photograph of a couple in bridal dress and cooking utensils.

The fishermen, after notifying George Sofie, who lives on the island, of the find, departed, leaving only the coat, cape and underclothing. Sofie told the police the south end of the island was a favorite swimming place for persons from both sides of the river.

British Who Lose Their Hats Wear "Any Old Thing"

LONDON, Oct. 20.

A LETTER just received from a British officer at the front contains an amusing account of the weird headgear and clothing which some of the troops have adopted, having lost their own. The result, this officer says, is most laughable.

Soldiers wear all sorts of military caps, soft felt and even straw hats. Occasionally one sees a broken-down cork or opera hat, or a rimless silk "topper." Even huge conical straw sombreros, such as are worn in Mexico, are to be observed, and some of these have been covered with khaki to make them less conspicuous.

"I saw an orderly belonging to the Royal Army Medical Corps," writes this officer, "wearing a woman's vest or bodice, and on inquiry I was told that almost all the men in one company were wearing women's 'undies,' as they term them, because their own undergarments were worn out."

AMERICAN THINKS BIG GERMAN GUNS WILL WIN VERDUN

Correspondent Watches Work of Siege Batteries Against Eastern French Forts.

By J. F. ARCHIBALD.

Special Wireless Dispatch to the Post-Dispatch.

GERMAN HEADQUARTERS, near St. Michel, Oct. 19, via Berlin and wireless to Staville, L. I., Oct. 20.—In company with Commander Walter R. Gerhardt of the United States Navy, who is attached to the embassy at Berlin, but was permitted to observe the German operations at the front, I have watched today the work of the German and Austrian siege batteries.

They are scientifically accurate. There is a splendid spirit of confidence among the troops. And the French townspeople and peasants are apparently quite happy, and most friendly with the German soldiers. The military are extremely liberal in their notions. They seem to hide nothing, and permit photographers access everywhere.

It is evident, from English papers received, that in London the objective of the truth is not permitted, for certainly their reports concerning the progress of the fighting in this district are absurd. They are plainly endeavoring to conceal the losses of the allies.

Yesterday an aeroplane scout from the allies' line attempted to observe the German position. He was driven back by a concentrated shrapnel fire. German efficiency is shown everywhere. The whole war machine is working in an unusually efficient fashion, amounting practically to perfection. There is absolutely no excitement or confusion. The horses have been eliminated, to all intents and purposes, by the automobile transport system.

Verdun is sure to fall into German hands very shortly. Some of the outer forts have already been reduced, and the whole French position is weakening.

GRENVILLE PEEK SAFE, BUT PRISONER OF WAR

Brother of Sir Wilfrid Peek Captured Aug. 24, St. Louisans Learn.

News has reached St. Louis of the safety of Greenville Peek, brother of Sir Wilfrid Peek, whose wife was Miss Edwina Thornborough of St. Louis.

Peek, who was an officer in the Ninth Lancers, was reported missing after a battle Aug. 24, in which Capt. Grenfell, the noted polo player, was killed.

A St. Louis relative of Lady Peek has received a letter from England saying that Peek has written home that his horse was shot from under him and he was captured by the Germans in the battle of Aug. 24. At the time he wrote he was still a prisoner and did not know where he was to be taken.

FEW SPELLING ABANDONED
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 20.—The Illinois State Teachers' Association has almost given up spelling reform, according to Prof. L. D. Coffman of the Educational department of the University of Illinois.

In 1911 the association passed a resolution requiring all its correspondence to be carried on in reformed spelling. In a recent vote but 109 of the 11,000 teachers of Illinois favored the new kind of spelling. Coffman said today: "I believe that ninety of those who voted for it are now convinced of the impracticability of the movement."

Constipation One of the Penalties of Age

Nothing is so essential to health in advancing age as keeping the bowels open. It makes one feel younger and fresher and forestalls colds, piles, fevers, and other dependent ills.

Cathartics and purgatives are violent and drastic in action and should be avoided. A mild, effective laxative- tonic, recommended by physicians and thousands who have used it, is the combination of simple herbs with pepper sold by druggists everywhere under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The price is fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 431 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

State Engineer Recommends More Street Car Loops

can be completed by the end of 1915. He said this reserve in 1915 was $552,245.67.

On general service conditions, Harrop reported a few additional cars were needed on several lines during certain nonrush periods, but he did not recommend additional cars during rush periods.

Lines Where More Cars Are Needed.
The additional cars recommended to be placed in service are:

Olva, from two to seven cars between 9 and 11 a. m., from Boyle avenue in-bound.

Page, six cars outbound to Taylor avenue in the evening.

Cherokee, two to six cars from south between 6 and 7:30 a. m.

Tower Grove, two cars from 4 to 8 p. m.

Cass, two cars in morning immediately after rush hours, and four cars after evening rush hour.

Natural Bridge, two cars in evening.

Eighteenth, three cars in morning, four in evening.

Seventh, five cars in evening.

Manchester, two cars in morning.

three in evening.

Laclede, two cars from 9:30 to 10 a. m.

Wellston, three cars in morning, two in afternoon.

Hodiamont, three cars in nonrush hours.

Lee, three in morning, five in evening.

Bellevue, from two to four cars morning and evening rush hours.

Fourth, two in nonrush hours.

Taylor, three in nonrush hours.

Grand, one to five in nonrush hours.

He stated as an engineering fact that in rush periods there should be supplied 76 seats for each 100 passengers who desired to ride in a given direction on one line, and in nonrush periods there should be 136 seats for each 100 passengers desiring to ride in a given direction.

Defines Adequate Service.
Adequate service was defined by Harrop, as follows:

"Adequate service is considered to mean the condition of operating enough cars to carry all who desire to ride with a maximum degree of safety to both passengers and to traffic on the street, with a maximum degree of comfort to passengers in well heated and well ventilated cars, with the highest speed consistent with safety, over the shortest practicable route, for a single fare to any part of the city, with a reasonable return to the company."

The report states that "unless operating or financial conditions render it impossible or impracticable, seats should be furnished for all passengers desiring to ride during the non-rush hours." He continues that it is not considered physically or financially possible to furnish seats for all in rush hours.

The report states that one standing passenger for each four square feet of floor and platform space does not result in overcrowding, and that that is taken as a basis for estimating the maximum permissible load.

Would Count Passengers.
The report states that the rush periods were from 6:30 to 8:30 a. m. from 11 noon to 3 p. m. on Saturdays and from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m.

It recommends that the United Railways be required to make an actual count of passengers at specified times of day twice each year to enable the company to arrange its service to meet the demands of the public.

During nonrush hours, the report states, cars should be operated in sufficient number to provide 136 seats for each 100 passengers, unless this standard would result in a headway of more than 7 1/2 minutes. It recommends that this standard be not applied to the Chouteau, Spaulding, Marcus and Tiffany lines, on which it states, a headway of 15 minutes is sufficient.

The transfer system is commended. Some means by which passengers could be prevented from talking to motorists should be devised, the report states.

The engineers found that many cars were crowded from the middle back and were not filled in front. The report states that this is due to the fact that smoking is permitted and to the use of the rear door for an exit. It is recommended that smoking be prohibited on all cars and that the rear door be used for exit only in cases of emergency.

The report recommends that "the city should take action to make the use of street railway tracks by vehicles a misdemeanor when there is sufficient room on the side of the street for the passage of vehicles."

The fixing of additional safety zones is recommended, and it is urged that pedestrians should be prohibited from crossing street intersections diagonally.

Stove Heating Is Approved.
The forced ventilation system of heating, by which heated air is forced through the car from a stove in the front vestibule, is recommended as being as satisfactory as any car heating system on the market. The report recommends that cars be equipped with this system by the winter of 1915. It states that 370 cars were so equipped in 1913 and that the company has equipment for an additional 500 cars this winter.

The report recommends that cars be heated sufficiently to maintain an average temperature of 50 degrees.

The report states that the engineers found that the company since 1911 has taken 106 cars, with a seating capacity of 483, from service, and has added 144 motor cars and 18 trailers with a seating capacity of 1679.

The report contains many tables showing studies of traffic condition, and from these tables it is recommended that a few additional cars be placed on the Page, Cherokee, Tower Grove, Cass, Natural Bridge, Eighteenth, Seventh, Manchester, Wellston, Hodiamont, Lee, Bellevue, Fourth, Taylor and Grand lines at certain specified periods not in rush hours.

The owl car service was reported to be adequate.

The report states that the annual earnings per car in St. Louis are much higher than in any of several cities with which it is compared. The earnings per car in Kansas City are higher than in St. Louis. These earnings per car annually are said in the report to be: St. Louis $3940, Philadelphia $7350, Boston $4400, Baltimore $4800, Pittsburgh $5000, Cleveland $5570 and Kansas City $5140.

Richard McCulloch, vice-president and general manager of the United Railways, said this morning he had not seen a copy of the report and that he would make no statement about it until the report was in his hands.

PAUL BROWN WINNER IN KANSAS CITY HORSE SHOW

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 20.—The Kansas City Horse Show opened last night in Convention Hall. Many of the best show stables in the United States were represented. Miss Louisa Long of Kansas City carried away the honors of the first night. Her stable captured two firsts, a second and a third.

A special number was the display of park teams, the pick of four stables being the Long, the Vanderbilt, the Crane and the Bushnell. Miss Long's four won the blue ribbon. The Vanderbilt four, famous in New York and London, took second and Val Crane third.

In the five-gaited saddle class, Paul Brown of St. Louis won the blue ribbon with "Johnny Jones." Miss Long's "Golden Girl" took second.

A surprise was the defeat of the Vanderbilt stables by O. J. Moore, the Columbia horseman. This was the first defeat for this pair of Vanderbilt horses.

SENTENCED TO TWO YEARS

Harry Hardesty Was Charged With Picking a Pocket on Car.

A sealed verdict returned last night by a jury in Circuit Judge Jones' court and opened this morning, sentenced Harry Hardesty, 28 years old, of 421 North Grand avenue, to two years in the penitentiary.

Hardesty was charged with picking the pocket of George Sauerbrunn of 5172 Reynolds avenue of a purse containing $5 while on a street car at Hamilton avenue and Delmar boulevard. Sauerbrunn missed his purse and shouted, "It has been robbed." It was testified that Hardesty jumped from the car and was captured by passengers after a chase.

The purse was not found in his possession. The conductor of the car testified that someone had thrown the purse under his feet at about the time Hardesty left the car.

COL. ROOSEVELT ASSAILS SHERMAN AND SULLIVAN

Tells in Chicago Speech of Progressives' Refusal to Enter Deal With Former in 1913.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt bitterly attacked United States Senator Sherman, Republican candidate for re-election, and Roger C. Sullivan, the Democratic candidate for the United States Senate in a speech here last night, ending a two days' campaign in Illinois in favor of the candidacy of Raymond Robins and other Progressives.

The old party candidates, he declared, were typical of the bi-partisan machine politics, and the fight in Illinois, as in New York, he said, was not one of party principle but of simple civic honesty.

The Illinois Progressives, with his approval, Col. Roosevelt said, had declined offers to enter into a deal with Sherman for a junction with Republicans and Lorimer Republicans, by which Sherman and a Progressive candidate would have been chosen to the United States Senate in 1915, when finally Senator Sherman and James Hamilton Lewis were elected.

Attacks Records of Candidates.
Col. Roosevelt attacked the records of the Democratic and Republican candidates. Sullivan, he said, had his career shaped by his part in the Ogdan gas ordinance in the Chicago City Council. The foundation for Sherman's political career was laid, he said, when in the Legislature he supported the so-called Allen law, giving the city of Chicago the right to grant 10 years franchises.

"The Allen law conditioned Mr. Sherman's election as Senator in 1913. In that Legislature not one of the three parties had a majority," Col. Roosevelt said. "Mr. Sherman tried to secure a junction of Progressives with the Republicans including the Lorimer Democrats, to elect himself and one of the Progressives. Mr. Sherman said of his plan to Senator Jones in the presence of his own manager and of Mr. McCormick, 'Senator Jones and Mr. McCormick inform me that it would be necessary for someone to secure Mr. Lorimer's assent to the plan in order to make it effective.'"

Combined With Democrats.
"Later Mr. Sherman suggested to another Senator, Mr. Zolla, so Mr. Zolla informs me, that if the Republicans and Progressives were united on him and on a Progressive candidate they could procure enough Democrats to stay away from the Legislature to allow a minority to elect."

"Prof. Charles E. Merriam came on to see me about these proposals and Senator Jones telegraphed about them. I informed them that in no circumstance should the Progressive taint themselves with an alliance with Lorimer Republicans or Lorimer Democrats."

"The Progressives, therefore, refused to have anything to do with a combination on such terms, and the Sherman followers then made their combination with Mr. Sullivan's followers—the Lorimer adherents being included in the combination—and Messrs. Sherman and Lewis were elected."

For Wednesday We Take Pleasure in Showing an Entirely New Assortment from a reputable American maker who copied to the minutest detail some of the best Paris styles.

Made of very fine quality velvet, in either black or navy, and in all sizes.

The biggest surprise of all will be the price, for from the entire collection, Wednesday, you may Choose at $4.50

(Blouse Section—Third Floor.)

Sale of New Fall Skirts, $5

Many of Which Should Sell at $8.50 to $12.50

A lot of about one hundred Skirts which are remarkably good values at the special price of $5

We secured at a very low price, odd pieces of Dress Fabrics which a very high-class skirt manufacturer had left from his regular $8.50, $9.95 and $12.50 lines.

We took these to a local manufacturer, and had him make them into Skirts, according to the newest styles which we gave him to copy. The result is, that in these Skirts at $5, you are securing styles and materials which would ordinarily be found only in much higher priced garments.

There are Skirts of excellent quality satin men's-wear serge, poplin, taffeta and gaberdine

Plain tailored styles, the new flare tunic, the plaited tunic mounted on a yoke, and the long tunics are all to be found.

Mostly blues and blacks, although there are many wanted plaids and stripes. Extra provision has been made for the stout figure, and sizes range up to 34-inch waistband—choice, $5

At $7.50 and $9.95

We show an almost unlimited variety of the newest styles in Skirts, in every wanted material.

Others priced up to $19.75.

(Third Floor.)

$10,000 GRAND OPERA PRIZE IS AWARDED

Prof. Parker of Yale and Brian Hooker of New York Get National Federation Award.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—The $10,000 prize offered by the National Federation of Musical Clubs for the best grand opera written in English has been awarded to Prof. Horatio Parker of Yale, who composed the music, and Brian Hooker of New York, who wrote the book. The opera is called "Fairyland."

Under the terms of the competition, in which 54 operas were entered, the production will be made in Los Angeles next summer. The authors three years ago won a prize for their opera, "Mona," which was said to have been an artistic, but not a financial, success.

Don't Let a Cold Settle on Your Lungs

If you have a persistent cough or cold, take warning before it is too late. Eckman's Alternative has restored to health many persons who had serious lung troubles. Read of this case—

Pleasantville, N. J.

"Gentlemen:—During the winter of 1911 I contracted a severe cold, which settled on my lungs. Eckman's Alternative was recommended to me and I commenced using it at once. The first bottle seemed to give me relief. In fact, the medicine had found out the root of the trouble and had started me on the road to recovery by loosening the mucus and making me expectorate freely. After using the medicine for some time my cough ceased. I gained flesh and today I am a well man."

(Signed) GEO. M. BATES.

Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchitis, catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and unobstructs the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Small size, $1. Regular size, $2. Sold by Babcock Drug Co., 1010 N. 3rd St., St. Louis, Mo. Write Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa. for booklet of recoveries.

FINAL ARGUMENT BEGUN IN STEEL DISSOLUTION SUIT

Briefs Formidable in Volume Presented and a Week Will Be Devoted to Argument.

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—Final argument in the Government suit to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation, the greatest combination of capital in the world, on the ground that it was created in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, was begun here today before four United States Circuit Judges, sitting as the United States Court for the District of New Jersey, in which jurisdiction the proceedings were instituted. The case is being heard by Judge Buffington, presiding; McPherson, Hunt, formerly of the Commerce Court, and Woolley, recently appointed to succeed Judge Gray, retired.

It was agreed that the entire week's debate be devoted to the arguments. J. M. Dickinson, former Secretary of War, who has had charge of the case for the Government, opened the argument. Henry E. Colton, special assistant to the Attorney-General, will speak for the Government.

Counsel who appeared for the Steel Corporation are Richard V. Lindabury, Newark, N. J.; John G. Johnson, Philadelphia; C. A. Severance, St. Paul, and David A. Reed, Pittsburgh. George Welwood Murray, New York, will argue in behalf of John D. Rockefeller and his son, who along with Andrew Carnegie, George W. Perkins, E. H. Gary, Charles M. Schwab, Henry C. Frick and others are individual defendants.

F. D. Kellogg of St. Paul will speak briefly for the James J. Hill interests.

Suit Was Filed in 1911.

The Hill or interests are involved in the case through the lease by the Steel Corporation of ore beds in the Northwest. Since the institution of the suit this lease has been canceled and Kellogg said he did not see the necessity of the Hill or interests in the case through the lease by the Steel Corporation of ore beds in the Northwest.

Testimony in the case has been taken in different sections of the country during the greater part of the last three years. The suit was filed in the United States Court for the District of New Jersey, on Oct. 25, 1911.

The Government asks that the corporation be broken up into the numerous companies that have been merged illegally, as the Government alleges, into the gigantic concern.

The Court is asked to appoint a receiver for the corporation to carry out a dissolution decree and to recover from syndicate subscribers and promoters and other parties to the combination the "difference between the par value of the stock received by them and the cash value of the properties or other services given therefor," that restitution may be made to other stockholders.

Request as to Carnegie.

Among the requests of the Government is one that the Court decree that "Andrew Carnegie was a party to the unlawful combination of properties through the United States Steel Corporation and took the bonds of the corporation with all the infirmities attaching to such participation."

The testimony taken in the case is contained in 55 printed volumes, each an inch thick. The Government's brief, a formidable paper of more than 900 printed pages, which has been filed, reviews the case in the case and argues the law points involved. Much of the space of the brief is given up to the Steel Corporation's acquisition of the majority of the stock of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Co.

The Government alleges that E. H. Gary and Henry C. Frick, directors in the big corporation, who went to President Roosevelt to see whether the Government would object to the corporation taking over the Tennessee company, misrepresented to the President the amount of stock held by Moore and Schley, the New York firm, which the corporation sought to purchase during the panic of 1907.

The Government's brief declares that the real object of the Steel Corporation in purchasing the Tennessee stock was not to help Moore and Schley out of financial difficulties, but to obtain absolute control of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Co. property.

Steel Corporation Brief.

The brief filed by the United States Steel Corporation, reviewing the law which the Government applies to the case and the evidence, declares that what competition existed among the companies acquired by the big corporation was greatly limited. It is declared that the steel corporation's proportion of the country's total production of finished products in 1901, when the corporation was formed, was only 50.1 per cent; that it has since been reduced to 45.7 per cent of the country's production for all the markets of the world, and to 40.9 per cent of the total production for the domestic market.

In denying that the steel corporation suppressed competition, the brief states that the organization of the company was but a natural development from existing trade and manufacturing conditions and calls attention to the corporation's successful efforts in building up a large foreign trade. It states that the records do not show a single instance of freight rebates having been asked or given by the steel corporation or its subsidiaries.

The brief says the corporation has reduced wages only once in a severe business depression in 1904, and that wages of its employees have been increased an average of 25 per cent.

The price of the corporation's products, the brief declares, is shown to have decreased on the average about 34 a ton since it was formed, and since 1903 has been less in the United States than in either England or Germany.

The brief denies the allegation that the Steel Corporation took advantage of the 1907 panic to acquire control of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Co. and reiterates that the stock was taken over only when it became apparent that nothing else would save Moore & Schley of New York from failure and prevent the spread of the panic.

The evidence shows, the brief sums up, "that no artificial barriers exist in the steel trade; that for nearly 10 years the competitive conditions have been ideal and that, under these conditions, new competitors have grown up and expanded products have improved, prices have declined and trade has flourished as never before."

Boys' Suits and Overcoats That Will Give Service

Boys' Suits With 2 Pairs of Pants
Our line of Boys' Suits, each with an extra pair of knickerbockers, is unexcelled. There are a number of choice models from which to choose, including the belted Norfolk with patch pockets, the half-belted Norfolk and the new English models.

The materials are cassimeres, tweeds and chevots, in grays, browns, mixtures, stripes, plaids and Tartan checks; also plain blue serges.

Every one of these garments bears the S. V. B. label, which assures thoroughly satisfactory service. These suits may be had in sizes 7 to 18 years and range in price from $5.00 to $18.00.

Boys' Suits With Long Pants
For boys of 14 to 18 years, who are putting on their first suit with long pants, we have a splendid line for choice. They are made from just the fabrics that the young man would choose, in styles and patterns that will appeal to him quickly.

Every one of these garments is cleverly tailored and will fit perfectly. Prices $12.50 to $18.00.

Overcoats and Reefers
Our assortment of Boys' and Youths' Overcoats and Reefers is exceedingly large and includes those of blue and Oxford chinchillas and fancy chevots. They are made with convertible collars, belted backs and with cuffs on the sleeves. Others are made in the popular Balmacaan effect.

We have any size from 6 to 18 years. Prices $8.50 to $18.00.

We Are Featuring Costumes for the Horse Show as Well as for General Wear

We are featuring, for tomorrow, a number of beautiful costumes for wear at the coming Horse Show, in addition to a splendidly assorted stock of the more practical frocks, for general wear.

Many new and unusual models for afternoon and evening occasions are shown in broadcloth, satin, brocade, Georgette crepe and crystal, with trimmings of fur, lace, etc.

These particular costumes range in price from $39.50 to $195.00.

Gowns for Evening Wear

A reproduction of a beautiful Paquin model is of black crepe over a petticoat of black lace. It has handsome motifs of dull gold embroidery, effectively used on both the skirt and bodice. An exceptional value at $85.00.

Another handsome Evening Gown is of black silk net over white satin, with bands of jet around the tunic and sleeves and a double girdle of black chiffon velvet. This Gown is both stylish and inexpensive and is priced at only $65.00.

We are showing a special line of Novelty Garments for afternoon and evening wear at $59.50.

Dresses for Afternoon and Street Wear

The model illustrated is of black chiffon broadcloth and has a beaded design in dull gold. The tunic is plaited at the sides and very full. It is an ultra-fashionable model and is priced at $59.50.

We have any number of smart Afternoon Frocks of satin, velvet and broadcloth, which range in price from $24.50 to $75.00.

One exceedingly attractive line of Afternoon Frocks is made of satin and crepe and includes novelties which possess an abundance of style.

These are made from some of the most popular materials and are priced at $29.50.

Among our most inexpensively priced frocks are those of serge and serge and satin combinations, which are shown in a good variety of styles at $12.75 to $24.50.

$5.00 for Women's New Waists

In Three Very Stylish Models
Special attention is directed to the three new Waists we are showing at $5.00. They are—

A very stylish Waist of Roman-striped silk poplin, fashioned with the new collar and yoke, which are daintily hemstitched. This waist fastens in the front with pearl buttons and has long sleeves with deep cuffs. Specially priced at $5.00.

Another smart and very practical Waist is made of plaid silk, with the very effective flare collar, which is finished with hemstitching; it has French back, plain front, long set-in sleeves with turnback and the large colored buttons give it a pretty finish. Price $5.00.

The third model is made of an excellent quality of French Batiste, showing a pretty design of dainty eyelet embroidery and the new soft roll collar edged with lace. This blouse has the long sleeves with pointed cuffs edged with lace to match the collar, and a double row of fancy crochet buttons down the front. Price $5.00.

POLICE REPORT ON REGISTRATION GOES TO ELECTION BOARD

Circuit Attorney Harvey Ready to Bring Frauds to Notice of Grand Jury.

A partial report of the registration canvass made by the police will be given today by Chief of Police Young to the board of Election Commissioners. The investigation was conducted by 10 detective sergeants under the direction of Lieut. John Hoffman.

Circuit Attorney Harvey was at the Election Commissioners' office in the morning awaiting the report, which he expects to present to the grand jury in the afternoon, together with other evidence of voter-fraud that has been put before him.

The district covered in the police canvass was from Levee to Grand avenue and from Chouteau to Cass avenues. Only about half of the names on the poll books have been investigated up to the present time.

Some Not Known.
The report shows that several of those registered have died, many were not known in the houses from which they were registered and others had moved.

At the request of Harvey, John W. Drabell and Oscar Buder, members of the Election Board, will appear before the grand jury this afternoon to familiarize that body with registration data.

so that it will have a groundwork on which to build its investigation. Lieut. Hoffman, John Schmoll, Chairman of the Republican City Committee, and many others prominent in politics will be summoned before the grand jury during the week.

The canvass, Lieut. Hoffman said, indicates that the alleged fraudulent registration is not nearly so bad as printed statements have made it appear.

The names investigated by the police were those which already had been canvassed by the election clerks and verified. It is believed by the police that in some instances men used the names of dead voters when the election clerks called.

Voters Had Moved.
In some places the detectives found that voters verified by the clerks had moved even before the Election Commissioners' investigators had called.

The police canvass was made following charges by newspapers and political committees that there had been much padding in registration, especially in the lower wards.

Two hundred and fifty registered letters sent to men on the registration lists and returned because they could not be reached by the mail carriers have been turned over to Circuit Attorney Harvey by Republican political workers. The Democratic committee has presented evidence of padding by negroes to the Election Commissioners, and this also will be given to Harvey.

Harvey told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that he was convinced that there were some instances of fraud in registration, but he thought carelessness of election clerks in making their canvass was responsible to a large extent for apparent frauds in the lists.

COMPTROLLER VETOS PLAN FOR FREE CONCERTS

Says City Has No Money to Pay $10,000 for Performances by Symphony Orchestra.

Comptroller Player today said the city could not pay the Symphony Orchestra $10,000 for five free concerts, which the Symphony management suggested yesterday to Mayor Kiel and City Auditor Blair. The city has no surplus cash on hand, but is $100,000 behind on the year's accounts, Player said.

The Symphony management urged that the city engage the orchestra for free concerts, saying that this would help the orchestra by giving it a present financial difficulty and give pleasure to citizens who perhaps could not afford to attend the regular concerts. Mayor Kiel and Blair were willing to agree to the proposition, but the matter was ended when Player announced there was no cash on hand.

F. E. VOGEL, INDICTED WITH SIEGEL, FALLS DEAD

Heart Affection Found in Autopsy by Coroner's Physician to Have Been Cause.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Frank E. Vogel, who was vice-president of the Fourteenth Street Store, of which Henry Siegel was president, and of the defunct bank of Henry Siegel & Co., and who, with Siegel, was awaiting trial on the charge of grand larceny following the finding of 14 indictments against both for alleged mismanagement of the affairs of the store and bank, fell dead last night in his apartments in a hotel here.

The Vogel family physician said death was due to heart failure. Vogel having suffered with an affection of the heart for 15 years and an autopsy by a Coroner's physician established this as a fact.

Mr. and Mrs. Vogel, with their two children, arrived at the hotel from their summer home at Briar Cliff Manor Sunday.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives and publishes news from the Associated Press.

MAKES THE HAIR FLUFFY, LUSTROUS AND BEAUTIFUL IN A FEW MOMENTS

Girls! Get a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine" and try this. Also stops falling hair and scalp itch; destroys dandruff.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair. But what will please you most will be after a few week's use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.—ADV.

"FULL CREW ACT" UPHOLD

Arkansas Supreme Court Decides Law Is Valid.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 20.—The validity of the Arkansas "full crew act," passed by the last Legislature, was sustained today by the State Supreme Court.

The law provides that railroads operating lines more than 100 miles long must employ at least six men in switching in terminals or yards in cities of the first class. The case involved was appealed from Hot Springs.

TERMINAL REVENUES IN SUPREME COURT TO DECREE APPEAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Former Judge Henry S. Priest, special counsel for the Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis and its proprietary lines, and General Counsel T. M. Pierce, on behalf of the Terminal today gave the Terminal's arguments in the Government's effort to have the court interpret its own decision in the Terminal dissolution case. This is the third time the Government has appealed to the Supreme Court, and now the sole question is whether or not the United States Circuit Judges, in their final decision, correctly interpreted the opinion of the Supreme Court, the Government having been dissatisfied with that decree and having by appeal brought the whole matter to the Supreme Court for final adjudication.

Former Attorney General E. C. Crow appeared for the Government.

In reply to the insistence of counsel for the Government that the Terminal Railroad Association should be dissolved because the parties mentioned in the decision of the Supreme Court had not agreed with the Government's representatives upon a plan of reorganization, the attention of the court was called to the language in which the court itself had employed, requiring only that the defendants, and not the defendants and the Government, to agree upon a plan.

Terminal Charges Defended. Counsel for the Terminal quoted from a decision of the Supreme Court in the prohibition case, wherein the Supreme Court said: "While it is true that the mandate of this court gave certain specific directions as to the scope and character of the decree to be entered, it did not prohibit the parties to the litigation from submitting a plan in order to carry out that decree and gave to the United States circuit court the duty to hear in opposition to that plan."

Counsel for the Terminal insisted that the present Terminal charges were justified by reason and authority and cited many decisions of the Interstate Commerce Commission holding a special and additional charge or passenger over bridges or ferries. It was pointed out that the Terminal charges at St. Louis were no higher, but in almost all instances lower than similar charges at other river crossings. The charges were drawn from terminal charges now applying at Newport News, Memphis, Cairo, Dubuque, New York and elsewhere, as showing that the Terminal charges at St. Louis by comparison were extremely reasonable.

Rate Jurisdiction Question. Decisions of the Supreme Court were cited holding that the Interstate Commerce Commission had jurisdiction over the rate question, and that therefore the Supreme Court could not and had not attempted to fix rates in its opinion as contended for by counsel for the Government. It was argued that the construction counsel for the Government placed upon the court in the attitude of fixing rates, thus assuming the function of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and that the court had stated rested exclusively with the Interstate Commerce Commission, and which the court had specifically covered in the seventh paragraph of its mandate, wherein the court had declared: "To avoid any possible misunderstanding, the decree should also contain a provision that nothing therein shall be taken to affect in any wise or at any time the power of the Interstate Commerce Commission to fix rates to be charged by the Terminal company, or the mode of billing traffic passing over its lines, or the establishment of joint through rates or routes over its lines, or any other power conferred by law upon such commission."

Non-Proprietary Lines. Counsel then argued, with much emphasis, that the Supreme Court in its opinion did not mean to fix the same rates to St. Louis as to East St. Louis, as contended by the Government's counsel, because of the fact that the non-proprietary railroads were not parties to the litigation. As to the non-proprietary lines the court could make no effective order, and consequently the proprietary roads, which, as an illustration, carry two-thirds of the coal to East St. Louis, for the St. Louis markets, were wholly outside of the purview and operation of the decree of the court as thus interpreted, and adopt the interpretation of counsel for the Government that the decree applies only to proprietary lines would at once establish a diversity of charges between the proprietary and non-proprietary lines and make the proprietary lines charge a rate from the coal mines to East St. Louis that would justify them in absorbing the charges for the further haul from East St. Louis to St. Louis and delivery to the mines to the east of the Mississippi River sufficiently high to permit an absorption of all the transfer and switching charges in making deliveries to all points within the extensive switching limits of St. Louis, across a great river and in another state. The effect of this interpretation would create an impossible and intolerable condition, it was argued.

Right of Reasonable Charge. There could be no question but what the Terminal Railroad Association had the right to make a reasonable charge for the service performed by it in hauling coal from the East St. Louis connections to the eastward switching district and making deliveries there, because the Supreme Court, in the case of Southern Railway vs. State of Georgia, 246 U. S. 20, held that a railroad company had the right to make a charge for such service that not only covered the cost, but also produced a reasonable profit, and this was approved in the case of Interstate Commerce Commission vs. Stickney, 215 U. S. 8. In this latter case, it was contended, the Supreme Court announced the proposition peculiarly pertinent in this case, that although the railway company owned all the stock of the Terminal company, yet the Terminal company was entitled to make a distinct charge for the service which it rendered in the transportation and a reasonable profit upon it.

Counsel contended that, although a profitable Terminal charge was justified under the decision of the Terminal Railroad Association had never been operated at a profit, but had been used as an investment for the furtherance of the switching services for all the railroads, and its charges so fixed and regulated as to only meet operating expenses and fixed charges. There had never been and there never could be any dividend paid on the stock of the Terminal Railroad Association, which is held in equal shares by the proprietary lines. It was stated, since the payment of dividends and profitable operation are specially forbidden in the organization contracts between the Terminal Association and such lines.

"Bridge Arbitrary" Reply. Replying to the frequent reference to the "arbitrary" "bridge arbitrary" and "Terminal arbitrary" made in the briefs of counsel for the Government, special counsel for the Government, Judge Priest and General Counsel Pierce insisted that no such was made in the pleadings in the original suit filed under the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law as to the impropriety of rates established by proprietary companies in the operation of their respective lines; or as to the reasonableness of the rates for terminal services.

The Terminal Association had published in the manner required by law its schedule of traffic charges, and after 1902, when the unification of the terminals was in fact completed, there was no abatement by it in the schedule of rates, which at all times were scarcely sufficient to meet the operating expenses, betterments and extensions of the terminal system. Explaining the operation of what the Government counsel characterized as an "arbitrary" counsel for the Terminal and the other defendant railroads said:

"We understand the truth concerning this matter to be this: That within a certain area the railroad companies, whether proprietary or non-proprietary, must pay a rate which is plus the tariff sheet charge of the Terminal Railroad Association; with in another area beyond that of the first in mileage, a rate is made which is plus only a part of the terminal charge because of the extensive area outside of the last the railroads make a rate which is minus the terminal charge. This is what is called an absorption of terminal charges in the through rates. In the first area the railroads cannot afford to absorb any part of the terminal charge because of the small area of compensation which comes to them in the initial carriage. With the third area they can afford to absorb all the terminal charges because of the increased compensation they receive owing to the increased haulage. This is in no sense an arbitrary of the Terminal Association and in no sense peculiarly applicable to railroad rates as to St. Louis traffic. It applies as well to New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore and Washington as to St. Louis, and is, in fact, a principle of rate making established by the railroad and approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission."

Emphatic denial was made of the Government attorney's contention that an arbitrary charge was levied by the Terminal on traffic originating within the 100-mile zone that was not applied on other traffic about that area. Counsel for the defendant corporations went into a detailed explanation of the tariff to show that the Terminal Association had but one set of charges, which was applied regardless of the origin or destination of the traffic, and that fully 80 per cent of such charges were absorbed by the carriers in the through rates. Within the limits of the Terminal received the same rates, but the railroads could not out of their limited compensation absorb the terminal charges as they did in the long hauls and consequently increased revenue.

In the citation of decisions bearing on the Terminal controversy Judge Priest and Pierce called attention to the rulings of the Interstate Commerce Commission and concluded this phase of the case by calling attention to the Detroit decision, one of the most recent cases in which the right to make separate charges for terminal facilities was recognized and upheld.

Industrial Switching. Before their arguments the Terminal counsel called attention to their motion made before the United States Circuit Court to modify the final decree as entered by that tribunal, so as to permit local or industrial switching between industries wholly located on the tracks of the Terminal Association. In the final decree entered by Judge Sanborn, Smith and Hook the Terminal is prohibited from engaging in this class of business. The language of the decree has been so interpreted by the railroad counsel and the attorneys for the 20 or more factories on the Terminal tracks, which are represented by John F. Lee and George M. Block. On this point counsel said:

"We do not believe that this Court meant that industries on the lines of the Terminal Association should be subjected to any such inconvenience and be remitted to the old drayage method for the interchange of their business with each other. During the year 1913, the Terminal Association handled 3,034 loaded cars of such traffic for 331 shippers. It is true this business is not in the contemplation of this Court in its opinion."

BRANDEIS ATTACKS B. & O. PURCHASE OF FEEDER LINE

Rate Hearing Shows Hamilton & Dayton Had Been Operated at Annual Loss.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Today's hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the application of the Eastern railroads for increased freight rates on their contention that financial exigencies brought on by the European war make them needful, was devoted largely to a cross-examination of Daniel E. Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, on the relations of that system to the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton.

Louis D. Brandeis, special counsel for the commission, laid stress on the Baltimore & Ohio's investment of more than $20,000,000 in the Ohio line and its assumption of obligations of a like amount. The witness said the investment represented only an interest charge of $1,000,000 annually and insisted that would not have affected the present situation of the line.

"If you did not have the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton you would have the money you invested, would you not?" suggested Commissioner Myer.

"Certainly," answered Willard.

"How much have you spent on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton in the last 18 months?" asked Brandeis. He added that the Ohio line had showed an annual deficit for years before its purchase by the Baltimore & Ohio, and last year that had totaled more than $3,000,000.

Willard replied his road was not urging the status of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton as a reason for granting a rate advance.

Commissioner Myer also sought to draw from the witness information as to what railroad stockholders demanded in cash as payment on their investments and with what proportion of new work accomplished along the line they would be satisfied. Willard argued that substantial payments on invested capital were necessary to insure credit of railroads and enable them to borrow the money needed for improvements.

Charles A. Conant, a financial expert, had prepared a lengthy statement purporting to show that not only had the road tended to close European money markets to carriers and threatened the return of $4,000,000 in American securities at depreciated rates, but that the purchasing power of carriers' receipts had fallen greatly.

Brandeis in the hearing yesterday called attention to the fact that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad had adhered this year to its policy of declaring a 6-per-cent dividend, despite an actual deficit of more than $3,000,000 in its net revenues. Brandeis implied in his questions that a similar policy had been followed by all lines.

Willard said the dividend had been maintained at 6 per cent at his recommendation to maintain the credit of the line. He declared it had been justified by the fact that the road had $32,000,000 in surplus.

Criticisms Divided Payment. Reverting to the possibility that interest rates would be greatly advanced when those notes fell due, Mr. Brandeis asked:

"If it be true that you may have to pay 7 to 8 per cent, is it not a risk that should be taken by the stockholders through a reduction of dividends rather than be met by an advance in rates? You defend here today a reduction of practically every railroad expense except dividends."

"Nothing we do in the way of decreasing expenses of maintenance and equipment is permitted to encroach on safety of operation," Willard replied.

Brandeis declared the statement of the railroads had disclosed so far nothing originating since the commission's recent ruling, respecting the Eastern line's previous plea for a 5 per cent advance in rates. In re-opening the case, the commission specifically limited it to matters arising since that time. Brandeis said that decision had forecast a falling off in revenue of $75,000,000 for the period embraced, and the companies statement of $75,000,000 shrinkage only served to confirm that estimate.

ROADS IN DANGER GOV. MAJOR IS TOLD

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 20.—R. F. Bush, president of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and high officials of other roads visited Gov. Major yesterday and told him that the railroads doing business in Missouri will be in imminent danger of bankruptcy unless the State permits an increase in their freight and passenger rates.

Bush said the Rock Island, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Cotton Belt and Missouri Pacific each lost sums ranging from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000 in the fiscal year which closed June 30.

At the close of the conference, which lasted more than an hour, the Governor made no promises. He has no power to order a reduction of rates, but he might recommend such reductions to the Legislature, or might veto any legislation adverse to the railroads.

The Public Service Commission has power to permit an increase in rates if it is convinced that existing tariffs are causing the roads to operate at a loss or without a fair margin of profit on their investment. An application for an increase in rates is now pending before the commission.

With Bush when he called on the Governor were C. B. Fry, receiver of the Missouri Pacific; J. T. Nixon and J. W. Lusk, receivers for the Frisco; Edward Chambers, vice-president of the Santa Fe; G. G. Burnham, vice-president of the Burlington; C. E. Schaff, president of the M. & T.; A. Robertson, assistant to President Bush; E. J. Wine, general solicitor of the Missouri Pacific; F. H. Britton, president of the Cotton Belt, and J. N. Johnson, vice-president of the Missouri Pacific.

Lusk Tells of Tax Increase. Receiver Lusk of the Frisco told the Governor his examination of the company's books showed that the road's taxes in Missouri have increased from $104 a mile in 1902 to $306 a mile in 1914. As a result of the 2-cents-a-mile tariff the road is carrying passengers at an absolute loss, he said. "Sometimes you have to hunt to find a passenger on a Frisco train," he added.

Receiver Pryor of the Wabash told of the plans of the receivers to raise money for improvements after the system was turned over to them in 1911. The first issue of receivers' certificates for $14,000,000 was easily disposed of at a slight premium, with the payment of 5 per cent interest. A second issue of 5 per cent certificates for $1,500,000 sold at par. When these certificates matured Aug. 13, 1913, the road was forced to renew them at 6 per cent and to pay 14 per cent commission for placing them.

These financial conditions, Pryor said, were largely due to the fact that railroads are unable to earn money under present rates.

Blood Remedy Sustains World

Myriads Have Learned of Its Remarkable Curative Value.

From the very fact that R. S. S., the famous blood purifier is a natural medicine, it is opposed by those who can not give up mercury and other dangerous drugs. Habit is a strange master. Afflicted people use mercury with a blind force of habit. It is opposed by the rheumatism they see all around them, unkindly of the locomotor ataxia, paralysis and other dreaded results of mineral poisoning, they cling to the fast disappearing treatment so surely and positively being replaced by R. S. S., wherever the light strikes in. R. S. S. is fast becoming the world's panacea for all blood troubles because it is welcome to a weak stomach, is taken naturally into the blood, is a wave of purifying influence known by its remarkable curative results, and is the standby of a host of people. It goes into the blood and remains a strong medicinal influence to the end and this without any other effect than that of a purely cleansing purgative. It is the most universally recommended blood remedy known, and has sustained its reputation for half a century. Its ingredients are Nature's definite antidotes for germs that create our worst afflictions. Get a bottle today of any druggist. Refuse all substitutes. Write the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 62 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for free advice on blood troubles, and how to overcome them. This department is one of the fastest helps to men to be found anywhere, and it is entirely free.—ADV.

How Ladies Improve Looks!

"Many ladies, old and young, suffer a round of tortures from their nerves, and many are so frail, thin and bloodless that their splendid features are lost sight of, while a vain attempt to cancel the angularity of the figure, deceives no one but themselves and really excites the pity or ridicule of the world," said a well-known, largely employed practicing physician, in a recent lecture at a young ladies' college. "I do not mind exposing a little secret of mine to all such, as it can do no harm and may result in much happiness and health. It is simply this: Any thin, bloodless, nerve-tortured man or woman can become as fit as the fittest by taking regularly for several months an easily obtained pharmaceutical product known by the profession and pharmacists as 'three-grain hypo-nuclease tablets,' put up in sealed packages with directions for home use.—ADVERTISEMENT.

Assistant Attorney-General Says Record Shows 2 Less Than Majority Vote for Bill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 20.—Examination of the records of the Missouri House of Representatives on the vote cast on the blanket ballot law at the last session of the Legislature confirms the contention that the bill was not legally passed, according to a statement made by Assistant Attorney-General Rutherford today. The legality of the law was attacked in a suit filed in the Supreme Court at the instance of the Republican City Committee of St. Louis.

Logical Dyspepsia Treatments

IMPORTANCE OF ELIMINATING ACIDITY AND FOOD FERMENTATION.
During the past two or three years reports have frequently appeared in the Press concerning the remarkable value of bisulphated magnesia as an antacid, and its ability to promote normal healthy digestion by preventing food fermentation and neutralizing dangerous stomach acid has often been demonstrated. Until recently druggists could supply bisulphated magnesia in powder form only, from one to two teaspoonfuls of which, taken in a little water after meals, almost instantly stops all fermentation and neutralizes acid, but suffers from stomach trouble will be glad to learn that, after long series of experiments, a leading firm of manufacturing druggists has now succeeded in producing a 4-grain tablet which combines all the valuable antacid properties of the ordinary bisulphated magnesia in a very convenient form. This new tablet of bisulphated magnesia can now be obtained of druggists everywhere and many physicians are already prescribing them instead of the powder form. Sold by Johnson Bros. DISCLOSURE OF BIG FEE FOR HOWE AIDS BOND SUPPORTERS

Publication of Contract by Which Attorney Was to Get $300,000 for Passage of Southern Franchise Assures Free Bridge Victory, Mayor Says.

VOTERS IMPRESSED, SHAPLEIGH ASSERTS

Chairman of Citizens' Committee Says There Can Be No Doubt Now of Success; Traction Repeal Bill Comes Up Friday.

When the Post-Dispatch yesterday disclosed that the Southern Traction Co. contracted to pay Jephtha D. Howe $300,000 in cash for obtaining a free bridge franchise, Mayor Kiel and A. L. Shapleigh, chairman of the Citizens' Free Bridge Committee, said the atmosphere had been cleared sufficiently to assure the repeal of the franchise and the adoption of the bridge bond issue Nov. 6.

Contract Under Which Howe Was to Receive Fee of $300,000

JEPHTHA D. HOWE, former Republican boss of St. Louis, by the terms of a contract he made with Hampden D. Mephram Jr., promoter of the Southern Traction Co. of Illinois, was to receive a cash fee of $300,000 for getting the free bridge and loop franchise. The services Howe was to render, and the conditions of payment, are shown by the following paragraphs from the contract, which was dated March 23, 1911:

"Whereas, party of the first part (Mephram) employed the party of the second part (Howe) in April, 1910, as his attorney and attorney for the Southern Traction Co. of Illinois to perform certain legal services in the preparation and presentation of an ordinance asking for a franchise from the City of St. Louis for the Southern Traction Co. of Illinois and party of the second part to perform all services in connection herewith;

"In consideration of said services rendered and to be rendered up to and including the acceptance by the Southern Traction Co. of Illinois of an interurban electric passenger and express franchise, now known as House bill 243, and now pending in the Council of the Municipal Assembly of St. Louis, the party of the first part agrees to pay the party of the second part a cash fee of $300,000 in cash, and the party of the second part agrees to accept payment as follows:

"First mortgage bonds issued by the Southern Traction Co. of Illinois of par value of $300,000, said $300,000 worth of bonds now being the property and owned by the party of the first part, it being agreed and understood that when said bonds are sold, according to the option hereinafter serves great credit for its activity in clearing the atmosphere for the bond election. Conditions have been made much more favorable for submission of the bonds than ever before.

"The public cannot fail to be impressed with the significance of the size of the fee paid Howe by the Southern Traction Co., Shapleigh said. "The Council and House are making no mistake in repealing the 50-year loop grant. We are going to complete the bridge."

The Post-Dispatch yesterday published exclusively the details of the contract by which Hampden D. Mephram Jr.,

Beautiful Hair Tinting

Absolutely and Positively Harmless "Brownatone" Instantly Changes the Hair to Any Shade of Brown (or Black if Preferred).

Nothing so robs a woman of her good looks and attractiveness as gray, streaked or faded hair. And there is no more reason or sense in tolerating a hair that is in wearing unbecoming colors. Nearly all of noted beauties long ago recognized this fact, and so wear their hair not only in the style, but also the color most becoming.

The one hair stain that stands supreme is "Brownatone." It is simple and easy to use. Just comb or brush it into your hair. It cannot be detected, will not rub or wash off, acts instantly and is absolutely harmless.

"Brownatone" will give any shade desired from golden brown to black. Your druggist sells "Brownatone" or will get it for you, and it is worth your while to insist upon having this preparation and not something else. A sample and booklet will be mailed upon receipt of 10 cents, and your orders will be filled direct from our laboratories if you prefer.

Two shades—One for Golden or Medium Brown, the other for Dark Brown or Black.

Insist on "Brownatone" at your hair-dresser's.

Prepared only by the Kenton Pharmaceutical Co., 312 E. Pike st., Covington, Ky.

The present House of Delegates has voted three times to repeal the franchise, and only one member of the 29 has said so far that he will vote against repeal if the measure is put on its passage next Friday.

An investigation is being made this afternoon by the Railroads Committee of the House, in which it is said that the Illinois approach to the free bridge has been "bottled" by tracks recently laid by the Alton & Southern Railroad. The investigation was requested by Delegate John R. McCarthy, leader of the Alton & Mississippi forces in the House, and it is regarded by bond issue supporters as a move calculated to injure the bridge bonds at the special election Nov. 6.

Mayor Kiel received a letter from William M. Davis, president of Local No. 73 of the United Carpenters and Joiners' Union, in which he said that at a meeting last night at 1025 Franklin avenue the bridge bond issue was unanimously endorsed. The union also went on record as favoring the repeal of the Southern Traction loop franchise. Davis said the carpenters would not only vote for the bridge bonds, but would do all they could to aid in passing them.

Kooli

Maddened by Confinement, a Show Elephant Breaks Loose, Murders His Keeper, wrecks a Limited Train, and Is Killed in the Collision.

By F. W. Leuning.

Kooli looked out upon the surging crowds and wondered in a vague way at their gaily. Not that he cared much. That gnawing, burning ache that seemed to start at his big flat toes and run to the tip of his long tail had killed all that was curious—all that was life—that was in him. So he just waited uncertainly as he shifted the weight of his huge bulk from side to side and trumpeted in dull agony—as he had been taught to do—when he felt the sting of the lead and heard the sharp, guttural commands of The Little Brown Man beneath him.

Kooli:
MOST FEROCIOUS ROGUE
ELEPHANT IN CAPTIVITY.
Admission, 10c.

As he looked sadly out, he could see the long, irregular street of tinsel and paper and paint and the crowds that surged and played in the glare of the myriad electric lights. He could see the laughing faces of pretentious women, the gray uniforms of the chair-borne girls, swarthy Turks and Malay sailors. And above the din of tin trumpets, shuffling feet and muffled screams he could hear the voice of The Little Brown Man as he shrieked to the crowds of the ferocity of "Kooli the Terror of Mystery Asia." And every now and again The Little Brown Man would come and prod the sensitive trunk and beat the sore toe with his stick. Kooli trumpeted in agony and sought refuge in the dark corner while those who came looked on in wonder or awe or disgust—as intelligence dictated.

He Dreamed of Former Days.

MONTHS ago—ages ago it seemed—Kooli had come. They had told together, he pushing the beams into place while The Little Brown Man cursed shrilly and jabbed him in tender places with the goad. And when the evening came The Little Brown Man threw him an armful of moist hay, over the price of which he had bargained for hours. Thus it was that Kooli helped to build the prison in which he was to suffer.

He bore it all with dull patience and, as the crowds came night after night, and the goad prodded sharp, grew thinner, gaunter, more awful to look upon. It hardly required the artful shading about the eyes which The Little Brown Man produced with white lead to make him look the half-crazed rogue whose part he played. Sometimes, in the long hours of the night, when the moon shone in at the bars of his hopeless tomb, it showed the solitary figure of Kooli restlessly swaying from side to side. But it could not show the pain that, starting at the bruised trunk, would rise slowly up till the great gray head seemed full of burning coals that flashed and flickered and glowed till they flared up and burst amid exquisite agony.

Then, slowly, would come a procession of palms, broad rivers, grassy plains—primal forests. And always there was a huge bull elephant, superb of tusk, immense of muscle, who moved through the vistas of green—a lord—ferocious, lonely, unconquerable. And the bull would reach for tufts of the succulent green above him and at the touch of his trunk the palms would wither and dry and fall to his feet—a bunch of moldy hay. Kooli knew that the bull was Kooli whose throat was parched and burning, and who longed for just one little, little bale of that fresh, elusive green. Knew that it was Kooli, yet was not Kooli, and would ponder upon these strange, mixed conditions of things till all went out in flashes and bursts of flame again. And of recent nights the great lone bull under the palms seemed seeking something. When Kooli's brain grew hot and the pictures came he could see that. The bull would tramp through the forests, peering into the gloom and lashing himself into a wild fury—and always there was something missing in the picture.

Rage Overtakes Kooli.

TONIGHT they streamed in to see Kooli. The Little Brown Man was in ecstasy. He goaded shrilly. When Kooli belched in pain he dissembled beautifully—warmed, coughed, sneezed, half fear. He advanced, commanded, backed away quickly and prodded when he could. Altogether he was elated. The dimes came fast, the fraud went on, and Kooli suffered miserably. The burning ache grew dull. The people before him vanished. Bright lights flashed before his eyes and went out, leaving him in darkness. Then a faint glow, coming out of the distance, advanced slowly toward him. Gently its soft rays showed him the primal forests. He saw the lone bull. A tremor shook his frame. He was the lone bull. His tusks! How white, how sharp they were. And his muscles! What strength was there—what power. He reached up and tore great tufts

"Unchain Mother. Take Off the Padlock. Let Her Help She Has Made a Success of Home, Let Her Assist, Politically" Father Has Made a Mess of Running the City, Says Suffragist

By Marguerite Martyn.

MISS HELEN TODD of San Francisco, who breezed into St. Louis for a few hours last week to help our own suffragists by telling noontime street crowds what votes for women have accomplished in California, is one of the most picturesque and effective figures the league has introduced here.

The first note of her voice, of bell-like quality, as it descended on passersby at the headquarters, Eighth and Locust streets, arrested attention, and what is more, held attention until there was danger of traffic being blocked on both streets.

The descendant of a forty-nine who has grown up with the country, her endurance, her speed, her manner and all she had to say, aroused and amazed our semi-somnolent, noontime strollers as if they had suddenly come up against a broadside of that exhilarating California atmosphere and sunshine we hear so much about.

Her purpose, she said, was not to theorize, but to give account of actual political happenings and experiences in California. And this she did, hesitating not to call foes as well as friends by their right names. And when it came to advising us what may be done with equal suffrage after our men folk have voted for amendment 13, some glowing, rosy, heartening pictures she drew for us. I wish I might with pen and ink visualize one of her pictures as vividly as she did with her magnetic tongue.

charged again and again. Castles, mountains, forests—booths and sidewalks—collapsed as he battered their flimsy frames. In wild, glad abandon he tossed about him plaster statues, paper rocks, chairs, tables, wooden Indians, Chinese idols, Indian pottery, yards of painted canvas and sections of tinsel-covered buildings and booths.

And a revolver cracked, and as Kooli wheeled something plinged into his side. He saw red stripes on a uniform of blue, and he thought of blood, and knew again what he sought. So he crushed out the life with his foot and charged on. A 10-foot palm smashed like glass, and Kooli found himself in darkness. Dimly he saw before him two long, straight, shining rats, that spread across the country and dipped into a hollow in the distance. He lumbered rapidly forward. A light approached. He roared in frenzy and charged once more.

A Reign of Terror Begins.

He picked them up as they fled before him, hurling him right and left. Lights, myriads of them, twinkled and angered him, and he

Everyone Admires This Good-Looking Woman.

Wherever you go you hear people comment upon a pretty woman and it is really her beautiful hair more than perfect features that gives the appearance of charm, youth and beauty.

Any woman can merit this praise, for beautiful hair is only a matter of care. Just as a plant needs attention and nourishment so must the hair have care and nutriment to make it grow long, thick, soft, fluffy and lustrous. The scalp must be free from dandruff, and the hair roots properly nourished, as nature intends.

Parian Sage, which is delicately perfumed and easily applied is just what is needed. It tones up and invigorates the roots of the hair and furnishes the necessary elements to make it grow long, soft, abundant and full of life.

One application of this scientific tonic removes every trace of dandruff and cleanses the hair of dust and excess oil.

Why not start now to beautify the hair by using Parian Sage, the great tonic treatment? It is inexpensive and easily applied at home. It can be had from Wolf-Wilson Drug Co., or any drug or toilet counter, and will surely do wonders for your hair.—ADV.

One of them went something like this: "Municipal government is but municipal housekeeping on a large scale," spoke Miss Todd. "Almost every department over at the city hall is devoted to or touches domestic interests in some way."

"Take the Park Commissioner, the Juvenile Court, the Tax Collector, the Health Department, the School Board, courts, the Garbage Collector, the Smoke Inspector, the Food Inspector, Milk Inspector, etc., all these offices, of sometimes awe-inspiring title, were invented to look after family needs, domestic needs, the intimate welfare of you and me."

Believes All Evil

Due to Bad Laws

"MOST of the evils that exist today are attributable to faulty laws, or the faulty enforcement of law. And most of the evils are remediable by legislation and government."

"Take child labor, wage scales, infectious diseases, impure food, graft, waste in city mores, these are problems which immediately concern the home but are too large to be handled by a woman's club or home influence."

"They are remediable only by law and government. With so many problems such as these flourishing, it looks as if the men were not making a complete success of government. Our municipal fathers are getting all 'balled up' trying to see that Johnnie gets his schooling; that he doesn't go to work before he is 14 years old in the rural factories and mines where there are few inspectors; to see that Mamie is protected from mashes on her way to work and is paid a wage that will permit her to be respectable; to see that baby Jack has food unadulterated with poison, and that the youngest born is protected from diseases bred in his neighbor's home."

Says Father Is Weary

With the Struggle

"FATHER is weary with making the cost of living anywhere near balance with his earnings."

"Father's patience is worn to a frazzle with the waste that goes on in his home, and he simply has given up the struggle of getting his rules obeyed and work accomplished in the department where the dirty linen and family skeletons are washed and aired."

"Mother is as interested and as much concerned in any of this home work as is father. Her fingers are just itching to get at it. Why don't you even let mother help?"

"But, no! You've got mother chained out in the back yard. It may be a very pretty, soft, vine hung, cozy back yard and mother may be very comfortable there, but if mother is a natural, unselfish mother she wants to break loose and help."

Unlock the Padlock

Binding Mother

"USUALLY hasn't she been a competent and conscientious housekeeper in her own home?"

Doesn't she keep her house clean and sanitary and then go bothering about how other women keep their houses? Isn't she just miserable if her own front steps are not scrubbed, and every one around the place, the help, and even the tramp who comes to the back door, provided with good, wholesome food? Hasn't she proved herself a good manager, using the household allowance more economically than you could yourself?

"Isn't she the champion bargain hunter?"

"Isn't mother just about as much concerned in the matter of our domestic welfare as you are yourself, if not more so?"

"Then why don't you unchain mother? Unlock her padlock! Turn her loose! She may not put the whole house to rights in a moment. It's a terribly topsy-turvy house, you must

Robert and the Goblins

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

ROBERT had a very bad habit of saying "Oh, I don't want to!" every time he was asked to do anything.

"If you are not careful," said his mother one day, "you will get so you cannot say anything but 'I don't want to,' and you will be sorry."

Robert, however, did not pay attention to what his mother said. And when she said he must help her with some work to be done in the attic, he said, "Oh, I don't want to!"

But Robert had to help, and he went to the attic to bring down some trunks when he saw an old book of fairy stories. So he sat down to read, and the first thing he knew he saw a funny little man beside him dressed in a green coat and a red cap. He was making a funny face, laughing at Robert, and Robert asked him what he was laughing at.

"I am laughing at you," replied the little man. "It is so funny to know what I do about you."

"What do you know?" asked Robert. "You will soon find out," replied the little man. He gave a long, low whistle and Robert saw from all directions little men like the one beside him running toward him.

"What are you going to do?" asked Robert, as the little men gathered around him.

"We are the goblins," said one, "and we are going to take you to I-Don't-Want-to-Land."

Robert felt himself being carried along a road through the woods, and pretty soon they came to a house, and he was put in and the door shut, and he was alone. He walked around the room looking for a place to sit down, when suddenly a goblin tumbled down the chimney with a chair. It was very small at first, but as Robert looked at it it grew large enough for him to sit on.

"Won't you sit down?" asked the goblin, pushing the chair toward Robert.

Robert was tired and he reached for the chair, when to his surprise he said, "Oh, I don't want to!" And the goblin took away the chair and disappeared.

Then a table appeared. It seemed to come right up from the floor. It was filled with all kinds of good things to eat—all the cakes and puddings Robert liked best. A goblin appeared beside it and asked Robert if he would not like to eat his supper.

ROBERT was very hungry, and hesitated to reply that he would.

Good Eating at Low Cost

We eat far too much meat. We eat meat to excess under the mistaken idea that it is necessary to nourish our bodies, while we continually pass up foodstuffs that (weight for weight) contain more nutriment and cost considerably less than meat.

Take Faust Macaroni for instance. A 10c package of this macaroni contains as much nutriment as four pounds of beef, and has another big advantage, too, in that it is much easier digested.

And consider the many savory, appetizing dishes that can be made from Faust Macaroni. Write for free recipe book today. Your grocer sells Faust Macaroni—5c and 10c packages. Buy today.

EDMUNDS TO SEND HIS BEST LINEUP AGAINST PANTHERS

Washington Coach Does Not Underestimate Strength of Drury's Eleven.

ST. LOUIS U. MEN BUSY

Varsity, Freshmen and Undergrad Squads All Given Workouts Yesterday.

"The Washington University eleven that lines up against Drury College, next Saturday, will be precisely the same one that took the field against the Rolla Miners last week. I do not intend to make a single shift in my lineup unless it is necessary to do so because of injuries.

"I was never so well pleased with the team the entire season as I was after our defeat Saturday."

These were a few of the comments made yesterday by Coach Bill Edmunds at Francis Field yesterday afternoon. Edmunds evidently is not in favor of the adverse comment heaped on his team after it succumbed to the Miners in the last out.

Edmunds said that he had known all season that the Panthers did not stack up favorably with the Rolla eleven and had predicted to many that his team would be defeated by 20 points. He said: "My reason for having more confidence in the team than ever before is that the boys fought harder, had more spirit and were game than ever. It was a case of the case of the better team winning."

Francis Field did not resemble a college gridiron on a Monday afternoon. The two-hour grind, although stiffened, bruised and battered, the varsity was put through a 45-minute scrimmage with the scrubs. Confidence was the keynote and an unknown spectator would have been struck by the fact that the team had gone through a grueling two days before.

Hospital Squad Grows.

Several injured ones adorned the side lines. Bill Barry carries his left arm in a sling, having suffered a bruise to his shoulder Saturday. Jerome Meyers also has a game shoulder. Tommy Davis is generally battered up, while "Red" Lewis has the most severe injury of the lot, a piece of a knee cartilage having been broken. However, most of these men are able to get about and will probably be again in togs before the week is up.

"Easy" Game for Keogan.

Coach Keogan sent his Billiken warriors, unfit for warfare though they may be, through a lengthy scrimmage against Coach Schloesser's freshman squad, yesterday afternoon. It was a heated affair and when the dust of battle had cleared each side claimed two hard-earned touchdowns. The blue and white boys will tackle Louisville University eleven Saturday and expect more or less an easy win. The Kentuckians were defeated, 40-0, by Tennessee Saturday.

ARMY-NAVY GAME WILL BE PLAYED AT PHILLY

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 20.—This year's army-navy football game will be played at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Nov. 21.

WRAITH'S COLUMN

The Cruel War Is Over—Not!

IT'S all over but the shouting, boys. The baseball war is as good as done, thanks to the clever solution arranged by a New York baseball writer.

We recommend to the attention of this correspondent the European unpleasantness, which needs his peace treatment.

Apparently by his recipe the ill of belligerency are quickly settled. He fires but one shot, seemingly, and that into his arm. You're not to wake him, if you please, until several hours later.

Here's what he pulled off yesterday, in connection with the settlement of the baseball row:

Sold the Yankees to the Wards, Federal Leaguers of Brooklyn.

Sold the Chicago Cubs to Charles Weeghman of the Chiffo.

Arranged for the Browns and Cards to absorb the Terriers.

Forced the American Association to buy Indianapolis and Kansas City Feds.

Unloaded the Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Brooklyn and Baltimore Federals on the already staggering International League.

Summoned a $500,000 National Commission fund into existence and to the rescue of the Cards and Browns.

This little deal, involving a matter of $2,000,000 or so, he swung with consummate ease and no doubt all will now be well. We should feel more certain of this, however, had we received word that Byron Bancroft Johnson were in his grave. They feel that he is across his official corpse, but not while he's living, breathing, acting president of the American League.

The Real Inside.

WEEGHMAN MAY buy the Cubs; Ward MAY buy the Yankees; and Stifel and Hall MAY buy the Cardinals. But the deal will be done to wipe out the Federal League, NOT TO PERPETUATE THEM.

And as for gutting the major leagues with the cast off Federals clubs it's an impossibility. The only way these can be taken care of is to form a third major-minor league, and let them join that.

If Organized Baseball and the Federals ever reach an agreement, the only way in which the Federal League will be permitted to survive will be as a minor league, not a major one.

Negotiation Attempted.

THE original plans were to have the Wards, Weeghman and Stifel-Ball buy into the organized baseball game and leave their companions out in the cold. To the credit of the gentlemen involved, they have so far refused to do this. With the situation acute, as it now is, too much praise can be given these magnates for resisting a temptation that must be sore, indeed, in these times of tight money and a losing game.

SOCCER 'JUMPERS' BARRED BY RULES OF NATIONAL BODY

Athletic League Players Must Be Reinstated Before They Can Jump Back.

Nine soccer players of the Athletic Soccer League who sought to pick up a little extra change by playing with the Robison Field League clubs, last Sunday, but who expected to return to the former fealty Oct. 25, will be disappointed to learn that they may not be permitted to play in the opening games at Federal League Park, next Sunday.

The reason is that the United States Football Association, with which the Athletic League is affiliated, has a rule according to which all players competing with or against non-affiliated players are automatically suspended by their act. No get back into the organized fold they will have to be formally reinstated by a vote of the National Council.

By diligence and hustling on the part of the league authorities it is barely possible to have the stain removed from the men in time to permit their getting into the fray, Sunday.

As good fortune has it there is a meeting of the National Football Council next Saturday at New York. If the circumstances are presented to the council a vote can be taken and the stain removed.

On the other hand the Council may decide to reinstate them at all. The men involved are Punky McCormack of the St. Louis, Len Zarchell, Lou Sexton, John McLaughlin and Fitzgibbons of the Ben Miller, Joe Lancaster and Harry Ford of the Rock Church team, Al McHenry of the Columbia A. C. and Harry Rattigan of C. B. C. who had expected to play with the Athletic League if it opened for business.

As to That "Best Team."

A STRUGGLE is going on within us announcing the lineup of the team in the world. The spirit is moving powerfully, however, in round No. 1. We tried a revised shift of an expert's dope that worked fairly well.

Round 2—We come up smiling with the following selection:

Outfielders—Burns, Cobb, Speaker.

Infielders—Dunbart, Collins, Maraville, Baker.

Catchers—Archer, Schalk.

Pitchers—James, Rudolph, Alexander, W. Johnson.

How We Assemble "Dope."

NOTE the "ouch," in connection with the catchers, from which department Gowdy and Schang have been omitted. Our justification for the omission is the manner in which this action was taken. To arrive at the choice above, we took the American teams of Branch Rickey, Miller Huggins, Jimmy Callahan, Russ O'Day, Hughie Jennings, John Mearns and Grantland Rice and shook them together well. The most popular selections, numerically, are those presented.

Archer and Schalk each had four votes to three for Gowdy and Schang. The other votes were as follows: Speaker and Cobb 7, Burns 4, Dunbart 3, McInnis 3, Sailer 1, Collins 1, Evers 1, Baker 1, Haines 1, Maraville 1, Lavan and Weagans 1 each (N. B. Guess whose votes went for the last two James and Rudolph 3, Alexander 1, Johnson 1, Leonard 1).

BROOKLYN BOXER HERE TO BATTLE LENNON, TONIGHT

"Kid" Sullivan, Real Name Steve Tricamo, Will Show at Future City.

By Harry S. Sharpe.

Referee for the Future City A. C. and the Post-Dispatch's Boxing Authority.

"Kid" Sullivan, the Brooklyn (N. Y.) featherweight, who meets Eddie Lennon of California, before the Future City Athletic Club tonight in an eight-round bout, arrived in St. Louis, Sunday night, accompanied by his manager, "Sport" Sullivan, and worked out yesterday afternoon in the arena of the Future City A. C. He was just a little over weight, but expects to make the 125 pounds agreed upon at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Despite his Irish fighting name, the little Brooklyn boxer is an Italian and in private life is known as Steve Tricamo. He has been boxing as a professional the past three years, yet is only 18 years old. He has made a good record and is well thought of in the East.

Lennon has been in the city for some time and is reported to be in good condition and to have made a splendid impression upon those who have seen him in his training bouts. He is said to have eleven fights, and will have an advantage over Sullivan so far as experience goes, but the latter backs upon his speed and punching ability to offset this difference.

Jack Hanson and Paddy Kelly will meet in the semi-final, and if Hanson can maintain the reputation he has from England, he has done in the East during the nine months he has been in this country, the odds between this pair should furnish some good entertainment. Kelly is not a sensational fighter, but he is a very hard hitter, but he is a glutton for punishment and a fairly clever boxer who keeps his opponent on the alert and doing his best all the time.

Hanson and Kelly are down to box eight rounds at 125 pounds.

New Quarterback Needed at Yale; Wilson Injured

Ell's Field General Is on Crutches as Result of Game With Notre Dame.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—Alex Wilson, the big Yale quarterback, was injured in Saturday's game against Notre Dame and today was on crutches. For two weeks up to the Notre Dame game he had been suffering from water on the knee and the coaches did not want to risk him in the game.

The other injuries of Saturday included a bad cut near the eye for McLeish, the substitute quarterback. Several stitches were taken to close the wound and he will be out several days. Alnoworth, the halfback, was banged up, and Capt. Abbott's knee was bruised. Several others of the players received minor injuries. Talbot and Alnoworth will be out of the scrimmage for a couple of days.

With Wilson and McLeish both out, the coaches will have to find a new quarterback for a few days, and a substitute in the big games. Tommy Cornell will probably be first choice for his place. He is very speedy, being a sprinter on the track team, and runs the eleven fairly well, though more of an individual star.

Coach Hinkley announced today that there would be secret practice all the week preceding the Yale-Washington and Jefferson game, and that the order for secret practice would be continued indefinitely.

C. B. C. to Exploit Forward Pass in Game With Transylvania Team

as a place kicker and he responded with three goals out of six tries from the 25-yard line. Gallagher, the punter, quarterback, was slightly injured, but managed to finish out the practice stunt.

WARD GRANT WARD of Christian Brothers College, whose team has scored the only merit-torious local victory of the season by beating Haskell, will exhibit his wares at Sportman's Park Saturday afternoon, when the Transylvania eleven calls.

Ward has pledged his word that two important things will be done in this game, to-wit: Play will begin precisely at 3 o'clock and the players will be numbered, victors and losers alike.

This, of course, has little to do with the game itself, but persons who have paid the freight at the rate around St. Louis for several years are just about in the mood of appreciating any small favor from the schools. The rooters have wearied of waiting from 10 to 25 minutes, after the announced starting time, for the game to begin.

The C. B. C. team will be at top speed for the Transylvania battle. The loss of Jack Diver, who was unconditionally released, and George Brenton, who has withdrawn from the squad, will not materially weaken the collegians, who promise to show the new forward pass with all its trimmings. Ward advocates the short, accurate pass and claims he has in Shea and Sacksteder expert pass makers.

Claim has been made that C. B. C. has the finest back field in the city, while the line is more experienced, giving the college altogether the best turn out within the confines of Mayor Kiel's burg. But we shall see what we shall see.

WARD GRANT WARD of Christian Brothers College, whose team has scored the only merit-torious local victory of the season by beating Haskell, will exhibit his wares at Sportman's Park Saturday afternoon, when the Transylvania eleven calls.

Ward has pledged his word that two important things will be done in this game, to-wit: Play will begin precisely at 3 o'clock and the players will be numbered, victors and losers alike.

This, of course, has little to do with the game itself, but persons who have paid the freight at the rate around St. Louis for several years are just about in the mood of appreciating any small favor from the schools. The rooters have wearied of waiting from 10 to 25 minutes, after the announced starting time, for the game to begin.

The C. B. C. team will be at top speed for the Transylvania battle. The loss of Jack Diver, who was unconditionally released, and George Brenton, who has withdrawn from the squad, will not materially weaken the collegians, who promise to show the new forward pass with all its trimmings. Ward advocates the short, accurate pass and claims he has in Shea and Sacksteder expert pass makers.

Claim has been made that C. B. C. has the finest back field in the city, while the line is more experienced, giving the college altogether the best turn out within the confines of Mayor Kiel's burg. But we shall see what we shall see.

PLAYERS' UNION IS RAISING FUND FOR WAR EMERGENCIES

Fraternity Soon Will Have Shew With Which to Fight for Rights of Members.

By W. J. O'Connor.

Ah, ha! Now it comes out! The Players' Fraternity, like the magnates, is collecting a war fund and already has acquired a jackpot that is not to be despised.

Recently in New York the Fraternity held a meeting and re-elected Dave Fultz president for three years. It was announced that the Fraternity had 1000 members enrolled for next season, having admitted two new leagues. Each member is obliged to pay $3 a month for six months, representing in a season a purse of $18,000. Last season and the previous campaign the Fraternity had less than 500 members, but even with that membership the annual income from dues was upwards of $9000.

Lee Magee, local National League representative, was asked to explain the object of this "war fund." "The Fraternity," said Lee, "has come to stay. We are looking now to the duty of acquiring a sinking fund which will enable us at all times to protect our rights. You see there may be an attempt made soon to allow salaries. We want to have a say in the matter and we undoubtedly will be equipped to protect our rights. As soon as the fund has attained reasonable proportions the monthly dues will be reduced. But we must first put our organization on a permanent basis."

About the only persons actively engaged in baseball who haven't a protective organization just now are the ground keepers and announcers. Red McAuliffe is promoting a scheme to unite the announcers. Biz Kinney is barred.

WEEGHMAN SAYS PEACE AGREEMENT IS NOW IN SIGHT

August Herrmann and Chicago Magnate Said to Have Agreed on Plan.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—August Herrmann, chairman of the National Commission, and Charles Weeghman, head of the local Federal League, according to a statement made by the latter today, last night, via telephone, reached tentative plans for peace in the baseball war.

The plan was discussed at a meeting here today, which was attended by President Gilmore of the Federal League, Weeghman and E. E. Gates, the league's attorney, and at the annual meeting of the independents in New York Friday and Saturday will be discussed by all the club owners. Details of the plan were not announced by Weeghman.

Robison Field to Remain.

The report going the rounds that the Cardinals would move next season to Sportsman's Park, leaving the old National League site for building lots, was spiked Tuesday by Col. Hedges. "That matter was spoken off three months ago, but I have heard nothing of it since," said Hedges. Persons who have had an insight into the scheme, which is being worked out to bring peace in the baseball strife, believe that Britton will be obliged to buy Federal League Park to effect a settlement with the outlaws. If the St. Louis Peds are to drop out, organized baseball will have to take over the outlaws' holdings at Grand and Laclede.

CHIFF HILL Goes to Chattanooga. WACO, Tex., Oct. 20.—Chiff Hill, Waco's left-handed pitcher, has been drafted by the Chattanooga team of the Southern Association. A draft of $600, the draft price, was received by President Turner of the Waco club today.

SPORT SALAD BY L.C. DAVIS

'Twas Ever Thus.

WHEN Gowdy smote his mighty swat, The fans took off their hats to Hank; He smote the ball outside the lot, And put a crimp in "Home Run" Frank.

'Twas "Home Run" Baker, when he wore The laurel wreath upon his brow; But they have switched it hind-to-for, And call him "Run Home" Baker now.

It used to be, in former days, That all the honors went to Frank; But now the praises and the cheers Are for the elongated Hank.

'Twas ever thus from childhood's hour, The fan is like the weathercock; One moment praises he will shower, The next he'll turn around and knock.

Food for Reflection.

It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than it is for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven. However, the rich man lets the camel do the carrying.

Try These on Your Strop.

The following are a few "Safety First" hints: Shave before breakfast. Roll your microbes. Avoid undue familiarity with strange bulldogs. Don't speak French to a German. Munitions should be identified before taken into the system. Boys should place a cushion in the seat of trousers before "leaning" dear teacher with a spitball. Forget that fable about the pedestrian having the right of way.

Going to Law About It.

The warring baseball factions are determined to have peace if they have to sue for it.

George Stallings has changed his mind and will go into vaudeville. If we ever said anything nice about George we take it back.

Eddie Limberg, the city champion, yesterday won the golf championship of the Triple A. When Limberg eliminated Sweetser, his strongest competitor, last week, it was predicted that the title would be his.

The promoters of high-class vaudeville don't seem to be failing over each other in an endeavor to sign up Charles C. King, the Western rogue champion. Manager Branch Rickey delivered an address before the Men's Club of the First M. E. Church at East St. Louis last night. Among things the manager of the Browns said: "Let us all do something for which men will honor us." All right, Branch, win a pennant.

Shortstop Bill Hollander was awarded to the Browns by the National Commission. Looks like first division!

Dick Rudolph and Hank Gowdy are illustrating in vaudeville the inside strategies employed by the Braves in rounding up the goat of the Athletics. If they hand it out straight, they must have subsidized the National Board of Censorship.

23-Foot Speed Boat in Chicago Races Has a 24-Cylinder Engine

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—First of a series of five races to decide the American speed boat championship was to be raced over a 20-mile course in Lake Michigan here today. Drivers of the hydroplanes promised to break all Western records and possibly world's records for speed before the final race is finished on Saturday.

Four boats were scheduled to compete. "Disturber IV," owned by James A. Fugh of Chicago, was the favorite. The dark horse in the race is the "Black Demon III," owned by Johnson Braine of Terre Haute, Ind. The boat never has been seen in competition. It carries an engine of 24 cylinders and is only 23 feet long. The Disturber also has an engine of 24 cylinders, but is 40 feet long. The other competitor is the Bullcan, 29-footer. Speed averaging a mile a minute is expected to be attained.

RED SOX OWNER TO OPPOSE ALL PLANS FOR PEACE

"The Feds Have Done Us All the Harm They Can" Declares Pres. Lannin.

By Bozeman Bulger.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Among the numerous suggestions already received by the members of the Baseball Rules Committee is one that a ball club be compelled to play through the nine innings with the nine players who started instead of being allowed to change the pitchers at will.

Secretary Foster of the Giants, who served on the committee for a long time, says this question comes up every year. There is little chance, until of its being adopted. Provision would have to be made for a player injured, and this would make it possible for others to "stall," the same result being reached in the end. As a matter of curiosity, the discussion was called to the attention of John McGraw.

"That's all right to talk about now," he said with a smile, "but wait until next summer, and you will see the very fans making these suggestions among the first to yell 'Take him out!' the moment a pitcher is being hit hard. The spectators always want the pitchers changed before the managers do. If a pitcher is wobbly and is being murdered by opposing batters it is not fair to the people who have paid to see a ball game to keep him in there."

Fans Want Keen Competition.

"A lot of them would get up and walk out of the park. A baseball fan likes a good ball game, even though he is pulling for the home club to win. One-sided affairs are always tiresome to him. If there is anybody who doubts that let him go up to the Polo Grounds next summer and hear the crowd yell 'Take him out!' But seriously, the pitcher should be changed if he is unfit to keep the game evenly balanced. "Another thing you want to remember is that baseball rules are never changed just because some person has suddenly thought up a new idea. They are the result of gradual evolution. Comparatively few changes have been made in the last 20 years."

Lannin Opposes Peace.

The so-called absorption of the Federal league may have been in the mind of someone connected with Organized baseball, but it certainly does not meet with the approval of all the magnates. One among this number is Joseph Lannin, owner of the Boston Red Sox.

"The Federal League has already done us all the harm it can do," said Mr. Lannin, "and I see no reason why we should peace to it. I am in favor of letting them attend to their own business while we attend to ours. If I have any players who want to jump to the outlaws my club probably is better off without them. Baseball men are telling of how Mr. Lannin, with his positive views on baseball, stopped dissatisfaction in the Red Sox last summer and really put them on the way to a close fight for the pennant. Some of them had been worrying Manager Corrigan by threats of jumping. Finally they went to Lannin.

"If you want to jump, go right ahead," he said to them. "You are getting all the money you are going to get from me, and if you think you can do better elsewhere, trot right along." The dissatisfied players backed up immediately. Hugh Bennett, who went to the Peds instead of Providence, was the first and only one to make a change.

Stallings Proud of Deal.

George Stallings, after spending a day in New York, went to Troy with Jim Gaffney to be present at a banquet given in honor of Johnny Evers. "The one great satisfaction to me in the series," said the manager of the Braves, "was that I was able to put Charlie Deal in at third and win without Red Smith. Of course, we all regretted the absence of Smith, but I'm glad to have convinced the public that we could move along rather rapidly without our first string man. Evers, you know, was out for 24 games and during that time we won 22."

Though he had refused repeatedly to think of theatrical contracts, Stallings at last had fallen for the two-day money.

"I have wanted a chance for some time," he said, "to tell some people in New York what I think of them for the way they treated John McGraw, and I'm likely to do it. McGraw has done more for baseball in New York than everybody else put together. In 10 years he has kept his team in the fight to the last minute. He has won five pennants. After all, I think it is a crying shame that a few tin-horn sports should get in the stands and roast him for not winning this time."

CENTRAL TENNIS TEAM IS OFF TO A FLYING START

Intercollegiate tennis players at last got their annual fall tourney started yesterday, after 10 days' delay, and four "prep" teams figured in the play on the Triple A courts. The Central High racquetists featured the day's play with a more or less "clean-up." Of the McKimley team, the mid-city boys won all four matches contested, three in singles and one in doubles. Owing to their flying start, Central is given the edge in the race for the title.

The Soldan and Yeatman High teams broke even in their four-match meet, each squad taking two. Soldan won the doubles and first-man singles, while the North Enders took the second and third man singles.

Play will be resumed this afternoon, when McKimley meets Soldan. Yeatman and Central are scheduled to play tomorrow.

DIAMOND GLINTS.

Bill Hollander, former Georgetown U. shortstop, has been awarded by the National Commission to the Browns, although claimed by the Graceland club. Monte Cross, manager of Graceland in 1911, gave Hollander his unconditional release. It was held.

Johnny Evers, captain of the victorious Braves, rode with Mayor Burns of Troy, N. Y., at the head of a parade of 500 men last night. The celebration was in honor of Evers' return to his native land. Banquet followed with George Stallings as a spokesman.

The annual meeting of the Southern League will be held Oct. 21 at Birmingham, Ala. According to a call sent out by President Kavanaugh, the managers of the league will discuss the problems raised by the raids of the Federal League.

Wallie Smith, former Cardinal and the past season's member of the Washington club, has entered the mercantile world and will line up Saturday with Bob Conner's hardware store.

Fed Raids Worry Southern League.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 20.—President W. M. Kavanaugh has issued a call for the annual meeting of the Southern League to be held in Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 31. President Kavanaugh said he called the meeting at this early date in order that it might be held before the meeting of the National Association of Minor League Clubs. He also said that problems raised by raids on the Southern League ranks by the Federal League probably would come up among other matters.

Bismarck—the "Greatest of the Germans"

BISMARCK, like all Germans, prized Personal Liberty as the breath of life—a NATURAL RIGHT to be guarded and defended at any cost. Among our millions of law-abiding German-American citizens there is not a man who does not consider it insolent tyranny of the most odious kind for any legislation to issue this command: "Thou shalt NOT eat this—thou shalt NOT drink that." Germans know that there is no evil in the light wines and beers of their fathers. EVIL ONLY IS IN THE MAN WHO MISUSES THEM. Fifty-seven years ago ANHEUSER-BUSCH founded their great institution upon the tenets of the Constitution of the United States. During these fifty-seven years they have honestly brewed an honest beer—the kind that has added to the temperance of nations. Their great brand—BUDWEISER—is demanded throughout the world. Its sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles, proving it to be in a class by itself.

PARKWAY WILL EXTEND SOUTH ON GRAND AVENUE

Boulevard 150 Feet Wide From Lindell to Manchester, and Small Park Approved.

BILL TO ASSEMBLY TODAY

Several Changes in Plan for 21-Block Highway Through Property Worth $8,200,000.

A boulevard 150 feet wide on Grand avenue, from Lindell boulevard to the viaduct at Manchester avenue, and a small park two blocks deep, were approved by the City Plan Commission yesterday as the western terminus of the proposed traffic parkway between Twelfth street and Grand avenue.

Complete plans were approved at the meeting, which ended a two-years' study of the project. City Counselor Baird read to the members the condemnation ordinance to be introduced in the Council and House by the Board of Public Service today.

By the end of the year, it is expected,
the condemnation bill will be passed by the Assembly, and before another year has passed it is possible the damages
and benefits will have been fixed by three commissioners to be appointed by a Circuit Judge, and work of wrecking
the buildings encumbering the site may then begin.

Change in "Hinge" Plan.

The assessed value of the property involved is about $4,000,000, and the actual value is estimated at about twice this sum, or $8,200,000. The greater portion of this cost will be assessed as benefits against property included in a benefit district to be fixed by the court commissioners. The city will pay the balance out of the general revenue fund
or by a special issue of bonds.

The condemnation ordinance provides that benefited property owners shall have the full time for paying benefits provided in the new charter, which is seven years. Benefits may be paid in seven annual installments of equal size, bearing 6 per cent interest until maturity
and 5 per cent if delinquent.

At the final meeting of the City Plan
Commission it was definitely decided that instead of swinging the parkway
slightly northward with the west line
of Jefferson avenue as a "hinge," the parkway would continue westward in a direct prolongation of Market and Chestnut streets to Beaumont street.

Swing into Lindell.

At Beaumont street a northward swing
will place the parkway between Lawton avenue and Pine street. At Chestnut avenue, two blocks from the western terminus, the central driveway will swing northward again, crossing what is now Theresa avenue and joining Lindell avenue midway between Theresa
and Grand avenues.

The city will condemn the block between Pine street and Lindell avenue,
Theresa and Grand avenues, and a half
block on the north side of Pine street,
between Champlin and Theresa avenues.
Between the south driveway, now Lawton avenue, and the north driveway,
now Lindell avenue, there will be a small park slightly larger than a city block.

Grand avenue will be widened between the parkway and the Mill Creek valley viaduct, by condemning for a depth of 70 feet along the east line.
This will necessitate a removal of the Grand avenue grand stand in the Federal League baseball park, at Laclede avenue.

The car tracks now on Grand avenue are to remain as they are, and a 16-foot strip of grass will separate the car tracks from a smooth-paved thoroughfare for fast traffic.

Favored in House.

The plans embodied in the draft of the ordinance to be introduced today
cannot be amended by the Municipal Assembly under the new charter. Changes can occur only through the introduction of new bills by the Board of Public Service.

The benefit district will be established by court commissioners and cannot be fixed by the Assembly.

The new charter provides that the city
may issue special tax bills in advance for seven years against benefited property in such proceedings, and sell the bills to banks. As they bear 6 per cent interest, it is expected that the city can always negotiate these certificates, which are a first lien upon the property involved, subject only to general taxes.

The certificates are not secured by the credit of the city, as are bonds, and the municipal corporation will not increase its indebtedness by their issuance.

Many city officials, ex-officio members of the City Plan Commission, attended the meeting, at which final plans for the parkway were approved. Speaker
Andrew Gassio Jr. assured the members that the plan was favorably regarded in the House and that it was likely to be adopted without delay.

21 City Blocks Involved.

Secretary Walter B. Stevens of the commission said there was no possibility that physical work on the parkway could be started by next spring and it might be more than a year before actual work could be started even if no delay in the passage of the ordinance occurred.

"Much will depend upon the activity
of the commissioners to be appointed by the Circuit Court," said Stevens. "If they are public-spirited men who will hold daily sessions to consider the claims of property owners, the work will be facilitated greatly."

PAPER SAYS SPY WAS WITH KAISER ON BRITISH VISIT

London Express Declares Steinhauser Was Entertained in Buckingham Palace.

STEINHAUSER WAS WITH KAISER

(Copyright, 1914, by Press Pub. Co.)
LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Daily Express in a special article describes the career of Steinhauser, head of the German secret service, whose name has figured in recent spy prosecutions in this country.
It says he, even on the occasion of the Kaiser's last visit to England, stayed as a member of his suite in Buckingham Palace.

Seven or eight years ago Steinhauser was placed at the head of the German secret service. Owing to the personal friendship of the Kaiser, he was given a free hand to organize and complete the service of spies in Great Britain. In order that the work should not suffer from lack of funds, Steinhauser had at his command as much money as he required.

He made frequent visits to this country, got into touch with the principal German residents, and within a few months he had appointed paid agents in London in every arsenal and dockyard town, in every important industrial city, in the villages on the English and Scottish coasts. Letters for the chief spy were addressed "Steinhauser, Potsdam," nothing more. It was quite a sufficient address for the German postal authorities, who had instructions to deliver all such letters without the slightest delay.

On Visit of Friendship.

"It was in May, 1911," says the Express, "that the Kaiser and his master spy carried out their Machiavellian plot of coming to London together and with Buckingham Palace to further their treacherous designs to wreck the British Empire. That month the Kaiser visited London for the purpose of attending the unveiling by King George of the Queen Victoria memorial. He remained in London nearly a week. One of the members of his suite was Steinhauser. He went to Buckingham Palace. All the time the Kaiser was professing the greater friendship for Great Britain, he was actually engaged in plotting the ruin of the British Empire."

By the end of the year, it is expected,
the condemnation bill will be passed by the Assembly, and before another year
has passed it is possible the damages
and benefits will have been fixed by three commissioners to be appointed by a Circuit Judge, and work of wrecking
the buildings encumbering the site may then begin.

The assessed value of the property involved is about $4,000,000, and the actual value is estimated at about twice this sum, or $8,200,000. The greater portion of this cost will be assessed as benefits
against property included in a benefit
district to be fixed by the court commissioners. The city will pay the balance out of the general revenue fund
or by a special issue of bonds.

The condemnation ordinance provides that benefited property owners shall have the full time for paying benefits provided in the new charter, which is seven years. Benefits may be paid in seven annual installments of equal size,
bearing 6 per cent interest until maturity
and 5 per cent if delinquent.

At the final meeting of the City Plan
Commission it was definitely decided that instead of swinging the parkway
slightly northward with the west line
of Jefferson avenue as a "hinge," the parkway would continue westward in a direct prolongation of Market and Chestnut streets to Beaumont street.

Swing into Lindell.

At Beaumont street a northward swing
will place the parkway between Lawton avenue and Pine street. At Chestnut avenue, two blocks from the western terminus, the central driveway will swing northward again, crossing what is now Theresa avenue and joining Lindell avenue midway between Theresa
and Grand avenues.

The city will condemn the block between Pine street and Lindell avenue,
Theresa and Grand avenues, and a half
block on the north side of Pine street,
between Champlin and Theresa avenues.
Between the south driveway, now Lawton avenue, and the north driveway,
now Lindell avenue, there will be a small park slightly larger than a city
block.

Grand avenue will be widened between the parkway and the Mill Creek
valley viaduct, by condemning for a depth of 70 feet along the east line.
This will necessitate a removal of the Grand avenue grand stand in the Federal League baseball park, at Laclede
avenue.

The car tracks now on Grand avenue
are to remain as they are, and a 16-foot strip of grass will separate the
car tracks from a smooth-paved thoroughfare for fast traffic.

Favored in House.

The plans embodied in the draft of the ordinance to be introduced today
cannot be amended by the Municipal Assembly under the new charter. Changes can occur only through the introduction of new bills by the Board of Public Service.

The benefit district will be established by court commissioners and cannot be fixed by the Assembly.

The new charter provides that the city
may issue special tax bills in advance
for seven years against benefited property in such proceedings, and sell the bills to banks. As they bear 6 per cent interest, it is expected that the city can always negotiate these certificates, which
are a first lien upon the property involved, subject only to general taxes.

The certificates are not secured by the credit of the city, as are bonds, and the municipal corporation will not increase its indebtedness by their issuance.

Many city officials, ex-officio members
of the City Plan Commission, attended
the meeting, at which final plans for the parkway were approved. Speaker
Andrew Gassio Jr. assured the members that the plan was favorably regarded in the House and that it was likely to be adopted without delay.

21 City Blocks Involved.

Secretary Walter B. Stevens of the commission said there was no possibility that physical work on the parkway
could be started by next spring and it might be more than a year before actual work could be started even if no delay in the passage of the ordinance occurred.

"Much will depend upon the activity
of the commissioners to be appointed by the Circuit Court," said Stevens. "If they are public-spirited men who will hold daily sessions to consider the claims of property owners, the work will
be facilitated greatly."

WHEAT SCORES A DECLINE IN THE CHICAGO TRADE

Prices Lose Nearly Two Cents After a Steady Opening—Corn and Oats Also Are Easier.

TUESDAY'S COMPARATIVE FUTURE QUOTATIONS.

Reported by St. Louis Merchants' Exchange.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Although wheat developed some strength today in the early dealings, the market afterward showed a decided loss. Commission sales selling headed by one of the principal grain companies was largely responsible for the temporary setback.
On the other hand, there was evidence of a continuance of export demand.
After opening 1/4¢ off to 1/2¢ up, the market suffered a material decline and closed at 1/2¢ lower than before.

The Jarr Family

By ROY L. MCCARDELL.

Here again it looks as if the responsibility is to be shifted to Mr. Jarr.

MR. CECIL DEDRINGHAM'S car was an egg-shaped affair of gray and resembled a land submarine—if there is any such thing. Mr. Jarr, at first sight, thought it one of the Krupp "caterpillar" guns now making such a noise in Europe. The big machine was studded with nut or rivet heads like a railroad bridge, and was doubtless the latest thing in metallic-mechanical motor construction. Its throbbing presence at Mr. Jarr's door was greatly relieved by the neighborhood. Gussie Bepier, the butcher's boy, had forgotten his meat deliveries and was trying to use the protuberant oval of the back of the machine as a sliding place. Master Izzy Slavinsky, after showing his fox terrier in the direction of the unwashed meat basket, had joined the butcher's boy in the slide-for-life off the back of young Mr. Dedingham's car.

The little girls of the neighborhood stopped practicing the new dance steps against the coming of the next hurdy-surdy man, the boyish companions of Masters Slavinsky and Bepier came darting up on their skate and pushmobiles, the householders looked out of their windows and wondered how much such a machine cost, and if it had been bought outright or on installments. All the while Clara Mudridge-Smith sat beside young Mr. Cecil Dedingham in, for such was the classy lines of the vehicle, an almost reclining position. In fact, so low and so tilted were the front seats of this impressive machine that it was something in the nature of a metallic bed on wheels. Young Mr. Dedingham, the gentleman driver, was lying so far back that he had to reach to manipulate the operating levers, and he and the lady beside him looked as they were preparing for a nap in the open air.

This was the evening Cecil Dedingham was to give his friends a touch of high life by driving them out to Cheese Hill Inn in a machine, that all the neighborhood—the youth surrounding it on the street, and the maturity gazing down as if from the windows—felt sure could not cost less than $10,000.

"Here they come now!" murmured the street and the windows, and those on the pavements made way for Mrs. Jarr and Mr. Jarr and the Misses Cackleberry in all their glory. They walked out of the front door and entered the conning tower of the land submarine, after Mr. Jarr had been introduced to Mr. Cecil Dedingham. All the way down the stairs the two Misses Cackleberry had been waging a bitter word and gesture fight, punctuated by fierce elbow digs and occasional pinches as to who should sit in front with young Mr. Dedingham.

When they beheld Mrs. Clara Mudridge-Smith in that post of preference the sisters sunk all their differences and formed an offensive alliance against the usurping enemy.

"You'd better let me sit in front with Mr. Dedingham, dearie," cooed Miss Gladys Cackleberry; "you know what the dust will do to your complexion."

Miss Cackleberry meant if the lady now sitting in front attempted to remove the dust her complexion would come with it.

Mrs. Mudridge-Smith smiled viciously, but then possession was advantage, and she only replied, "Oh, I don't mind washing my face, you know!" Her tone implied Miss Cackleberry, who had a muddy skin, did mind.

Mrs. Jarr got her charges and Mr. Jarr into the tonneau of the road submarine without any open attacks, and the million dollar kid turned on the power, nearly running over 11 people between the starting place and the corner.

When a cycle policeman set chase after it. Mr. Dedingham left him far behind in dust and derision, for the car's power and speed was not belied by its appearance; but in a jam of vehicles they were overtaken and a summons was thrust upon Mr. Jarr.

"You attend to it, old top," yawned young Mr. Dedingham. "I've been pinched so often that if I appear I'll be sent up for life!"

Real English in Restaurants.

SLIP me a brace of cackles!" ordered the chesty-looking young man with a bored air as he perched on the first stool in the luncheon room.

"A what?" asked the waitress as she placed a glass of water before him. "Adam and Eve flat on their backs. A pair of sunbathers!" said the young man in exasperated tone.

"You got me, kid," returned the waitress, "Whatcha want?" "Eggs up," said the young man. "Eggs up," the kind that come before the hen or after, I never knew which.

"Why didn't you say so in the first place?" asked the waitress. "You'd a had 'em by this time."

"Well, of all things!" said the young man.

"I knew what he was drivin' at all the time," began the waitress, as the young man departed. "But he's one of them fellers that thinks they can get by with anything. He doesn't know that they're using plain English now in restaurants."
